China Wheat Deal Blasted in House

BY MAC Opposition Briefed On Spying

LONDON (Reuters)—Labor Opposition Leader Hugh Gaitskill today accepted an invitation from Prime Minister Macmillan for secret talks on the consequences of the conviction of a former British diplomat for spying.

LONDON (Reuters)—George Blake, former British diplomat convicted Wednesday of passing vital state secrets to the Russians, plans to appeal against his 12-year jail sentence. It was announced here today.

Macmillan told the House of Commons he was investigating whether further safeguards were needed to protect British security, but ruled out a specific inquiry.

Macmillan said he would disclose to Gaitskill the entire circumstances of the case and they could then discuss what was the best course to take in the public interest.

George Blake was sentenced to 12 years' imprisonment Wednesday after confessing he gave to Soviet agents every important paper he had access to between 1951 and 1959.

Macmillan admitted Blake "has done serious damage to the interests of this country."

Macmillan added: "I can assure members that Blake's disclosures will not have done irreparable damage."

"In particular, he did not have access to secret information on defence, nuclear or atomic matters."

Blake confessed that he passed secret information to the Russians after becoming a Communist in 1951 when he was in a North Korea internment camp.

Macmillan said of Blake's Korean imprisonment that he no doubt underwent a certain amount of ill-treatment in common with others who were interned by the Communist Chinese.

But he was subject to none of the brainwashing which military prisoners suffered, Macmillan said.

City council today formally decided to keep all 740 cluster lights but "transplant" 63 of them to The Causeway and surrounding tourist district.

Cost of rehabilitating the standards, replacing existing supplementary lights on steel poles and the "transplant" operation will be $106,000—none of it to come from taxation.

Funds will be provided from the land sales tax fund which now stands at $108,000.

The compromise—strongly supported by Mayor Percy Scuffah—was proposed by street lighting chairman Ald. J. L. W. McLean who led the earlier effort to install modern mercury lighting downtown.

REPLACEMENTS
Ald. McLean said some 94 cluster lights, replaced by mercury units, would be taken from Johnson, between Blanshard and Quadra; Quadra, from Pandora to Fort; Yates, Government to Douglas; Fort, Douglas to Blanshard, and Government, Pandora to Herald.

Some of these would go into a reserve stock because the city has no replacements on hand and onto the grounds of the new Law Courts building as requested by the provincial government.

The majority would be used to extend the cluster light system to The Causeway, along Belleville, Humboldt and Burdett streets to fill gaps in the tourist area.

Only Ald. A. I. Curtis and Ald. M. H. Mooney voted against the proposal. Ald. Curtis opposed replacement of existing supplementary lights because it would still mean two types of poles on the streets after wiring goes underground.

Ald. Mooney opposed moving any of the clusters and also argued that the $38,000 rehabilitation job for the system should be done in stages instead of all at once.

50-50 CHANCE ASTRONAUT GOES FRIDAY

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—With a promise of favorable weather in the offing, a preliminary countdown began today, aimed at launching astronaut Alan Shepard into space at 8 a.m. EDT (5 a.m. PST), Friday.

A U.S. Space Agency spokesman said the weather has improved and "it now looks like a better than 50-50 chance of launching tomorrow."

He added, however, "we have no concrete assurances at this time that the weather will be perfect."

Today's countdown was to last five to seven hours and give most of the rocket's major system a complete check.

The final countdown is scheduled to start at 1:30 a.m. EDT Friday.

'One-Sided Agreement' Says Argue

OTTAWA (CP)—There's a "big joker" in Canada's $362,000,000 wheat deal with Red China, CCF Leader Hazen Argue said today in the Commons.

Canada has to provide wheat and barley for China but China doesn't have to buy it, he said in a speech arousing hoots and angry shouts from Progressive Conservative members.

"The most one-sided agreement I've ever seen," added Mr. Argue, who was a way from the House when Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton announced the deal under which Red China would take 186,000,000 bushels of wheat and 46,000,000 bushels of barley over 2½ years.

Mr. Argue said the only firm commitment in the agreement is the contract to ship the first 28,000,000 bushels of wheat between June 1 and Nov. 30. After that, each contract must be negotiated for price and quantity, he said.

CANADA STOREHOUSE
What kind of a contract was that? Red China was not committed. But Canada was committed to a storehouse policy whereby she would have wheat and barley ready for China if it was bought.

"It's not what it was dressed up to be. I think the minister making the announcement (Mr. Hamilton) really was putting his public relations men to work because this has been blown up and exaggerated almost beyond all recognition."

Trade Minister Hees, asked by Mr. Argue to say just what the long-term agreement involved, referred to Mr. Hamilton's remarks Tuesday in which the agriculture minister said:

"I have made it clear that there is a long-term agreement. Under the agreement, one contract has been signed. Each future contract will be negotiated in respect to price and quantity."

George McIlraith (L—Ottawa) said Mr. Argue's charges are of a very serious nature and, if sustained, will be of major national importance.

CAN ONLY DISCUSS PRICE
Later in the debate, Mr. Hees said he has been advised that China has agreed to take the full quantity over the period. It left only the individual quantities and the prices within the over-all agreement to be negotiated.

Mr. Argue challenged him to produce the agreement itself to back this up.

Mr. Hees replied that such a challenge should be addressed to Mr. Hamilton.

Comment was unanimously full of praise, Mr. Argue said, but people seemed to have missed the point. China just was not committed to buying a bushel after the initial order of 28,000,000 bushels of wheat.

"Sounds like sour grapes," jeered Jack H. Horner (PC—Acadia).

"The flimsiest kind of transaction," said Mr. Argue. The Second World War wheat deal with Britain had been much firmer. So was the recently divulged uranium deal with Britain—the controversial 12,000 tons to be delivered in 1963-1966.

"I'm against false publicity," said Mr. Argue. "I'm against what could turn out to be a hoax."

He urged Trade Minister Hees, whose departmental spending estimates were under study at the time, to say if Red China "must" or "may" buy the wheat and barley.

HOLD THE PHONE ON FRIDAY

Please do not telephone police, fire, newspapers, radio or TV stations when sirens start howling around 8 a.m. Friday.

That is, unless there is legitimate reason for doing so. The sirens will herald start of the national civil defence exercise Operation Tocsin, and unnecessary telephone calls could overload equipment to a point where emergency calls might be blocked.

Sports Scene Viewed In New Times Column

A new sports column is introduced to Times readers today.

The author is Times staffer Hal Malone. In his column he will range the wide wonderful world of sport from the national and international scene to the doings of local sports figures.

Hal is a veteran newsman of wide experience. Quite some years ago he was a sportswriter for a Vancouver metropolitan paper, later published and edited a weekly, then a daily.

In three years with the Times staff he has performed numerous duties, including a business column and an entertaining column on the annual horse racing meet.

Today he returns to sports, and will air his views for Times readers three times weekly on the sports pages.

JOHANNESBURG (AP)—

Defiant Negro leaders vowed today to press on with their plans for country-wide demonstrations against the new South African republic despite widespread raids by 1,000 police Wednesday.

Nelson Mandela, honorary secretary of the All in Africa National Council, called the raids "unwarranted interference," and said word was going around for all non-whites to make the demonstrations a success.

Mandela's organization has called for a three-day strike beginning May 29, two days before South Africa becomes a republic, and non-violent gatherings protesting the denial of political rights to the non-whites majority.

The aim is to bring industry and public services to a standstill and stir up public resentment against Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd's white supremacy government.

South Africa's 9,000,000 non-whites are voteless and had no say in the referendum last year in which Verwoerd won a narrow endorsement in favor of a republic ending South Africa's previous allegiance to the Crown.

In the wake of Wednesday's wide police sweep mounting tension and anxiety were reported from Cape Town, Durban, Pretoria and areas around Johannesburg with large non-white populations.

The government insisted that the raids on homes and offices were only in furtherance of "investigation of various forms of crime and suspected crime." But the raiders concentrated on whites and non-whites known to be members of anti-government groups, and the apparent aim was to search out the detailed plans for the demonstrations at the end of the month.

The South African Press Association reported no political arrests were made, but said several persons were picked up for criminal offences.

Peter Brown, Liberal party national chairman, said the police raids were "a grim reminder of the days before and during last year's emergency"—the violence and bloodshed of March, 1960, that started with a police massacre of Negroes at Sharpsville.

DURBAN (Reuters)—Police raided nearby Cato Manor African Township again today while maintaining silence on their motives.

PRAYER FOR TODAY
O God and Father of us all, reveal to me Thy presence amid the tangled affairs of this day, that I may see Thy will for me and do it. O Lord, who have given Thy life a ransom for many and hast numbered me among the redeemed, help me to forgive as I have been forgiven. Thou hast dispelled the dark cloud of my guilt and hast flooded my soul with the sunshine of Thy favor. Now I would place my hand in Thine and go all the way with Thee, Amen.

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Starr said today he has passed the Unemployment Insurance Commission to review its decision that unemployed workers who staged a march on Ottawa 10 days ago should be deprived of insurance benefits for the day.

Mr. Starr said he has asked the commission to study the Unemployment Insurance Act. He could not give the requested assurance until he received a report.

Reds Open Fire As Truce Talks Near

VIENTIANE (Reuters)—Gen. Phoumi Nosavan today claimed that pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces have ignored a cease-fire order broadcast by Pathet Lao radio and opened fire on government troops.

Phoumi, strongman defence minister and deputy premier in the pro-American government of Prince Boun Oum, said leftist rebels north of Luang Prabang "deliberately opened fire on our troops."

Earlier, the royal government accepted former premier Souvanna Phouma's invitation to peace talks Friday on the front north of here.

Government acceptance of Souvanna's invitation left unsettled a major point: "The government has insisted combat officers of both sides meet in the field to draw up an armistice line and other details of the cease-fire before political leaders meet."

Nosavan said he was insisting on this point.

OTTAWA (UPI)—The three-international truce supervisory commission is waiting instructions from Britain and the Soviet Union before moving into Laos. External Affairs Minister Howard Green said today.

The commission, which includes representatives from Canada, India and Poland, is in New Delhi.

JUDGE ATTACKED OVER 'PERSECUTION'

Toronto Businessman Arrested in Germany

FRANKFURT (AP)—West German police today held a Polish-born Canadian, who they said, tried to shoot a German official over alleged racial persecution.

Police said they arrested Chaim Kuflik, 58, a businessman from Toronto, Wednesday after he attempted to shoot German judge Dr. Friedrich W. Kiessling with a pistol in the judge's office.

Dr. Kiessling suffered only minor injuries, police said. Police said Kuflik, a Jew born in Poland, was involved in argument in a Frankfurt bar in January, 1960—shortly after the wave of anti-semitic incidents in Germany.

A heated argument started after a man said Hitler was the greatest German who had ever lived. Kuflik countered with the statement Hitler was the greatest criminal ever.

Kuflik went to the nearest police precinct and filed charges. There he was vilified and bodily mistreated by four German police officers, Kuflik claimed.

Kuflik filed charges also against the quartet but the state attorney did not prosecute due to lack of evidence.

A subsequent appeal to an administrative court was also without success and Kuflik was ordered to pay the costs of the investigation and subsequent appeal.

Dr. Kiessling was president of the court that squashed his appeal and ordered him to pay.

PORTLAND — An angry motorist notified police Wednesday that a 100-pound German shepherd had jumped into his car and refused to move. Patrolman Raymond Buhrmaster drove to the scene. While he was talking to the motorist the dog leaped from the car and jumped through the window of the patrol vehicle.

Again the hound refused to budge and there was nothing for Buhrmaster to do but head for the humane society.

En route, he explained the problem to the central radio dispatcher, who asked: "Is he friendly?"

"I don't know," was the reply. "He's staying on his side of the seat and I'm staying on mine."

At the humane society, attendants got a rope and finally pulled the dog out of the car.

LONDON — War Secretary John Profumo admitted in the Commons Wednesday that British security officials were "unduly zealous" when they ordered a photographer to hand over or destroy photographs of a cake model of Britain's nuclear submarine Dreadnought.

The cake was made for a party given for Sir John Lang on his retirement as secretary of the admiralty.

Profumo said the photographs were not classified as secret even though the model "was intended only for internal consumption."

LONDON — There is heartbreak in the pelican population in St. James' Park Lake.

The magazine The Field reported: "Wilfred and Daphne are quite clearly in love. The third pelican, Paul, is cut dead. He spends much of his time with Mr. May, the birdkeeper."

LONDON — The buzzer sounded through the courtroom Wednesday.

"I shall adjourn court for 10 minutes," said the magistrate, Lady Janner. She left the bench, walked out of the North London juvenile court and stopped in front of a grey sedan, unlocked the door, started the motor and then drove off.

For several minutes she searched for a parking space and found one.

Dropping two sixpences (14 cents) into a parking meter, she turned and hurried back to the bench.

"Court," she announced, "will now resume."

Two hours later the buzzer on Lady Janner's desk sounded again. With an air of resignation, she repeated the process of moving her car.

This has been going on for two months — ever since the local borough council ringed the court building with parking meters.

LONDON — Britain's 15th and 19th Hussars have informed Princess Margaret that no man in the regiment is available for domestic duties at Kensington Palace, it was announced today.

The armored regiment, scheduled for overseas duty, was replying to a request from the palace for a man who, for any reason, was unable to accompany the Hussars on their new posting.

A war office spokesman said this was not a palace order, it was simply a request to find whether such a man existed.

The duties of the soldier would probably have been those of a telephone operator or orderly, the spokesman said.

ON POLITICAL FUNDS

Labor Council Changes Policy

Victoria Labor Council in future will receive cash donations and offers of help from unionists on behalf of New Party candidate Glen Hamilton for the May 29 Esquimalt-Saanich byelection.

This policy was determined at a meeting Wednesday at which the council also decided to provide political information only on request.

Secretary-treasurer A. W. Toome said after the meeting the new policy cleared the way for return to the VLC of three disaffiliated unions.

The unions had disaffiliated due to disagreement on handling of political action by the VLC.

William Gauld, Vancouver Island Canadian Labor Congress representative, was appointed to head the VLC political action committee which will work to support the New Party.

His committee will be responsible for collecting cash donations and assigning volunteers to work in the byelection campaign.

Labor Man Criticizes Clyne 'Wage'

E. P. O'Neal, secretary-treasurer of the B.C. Federation of Labor, said here Wednesday if increased wages cause unemployment as claimed by J. V. Clyne, MacMillan, Bloedel & Powell River chairman, then Mr. Clyne must be "the greatest single cause of unemployment in this province."

He said in three years Mr. Clyne's salary had jumped from $19,000 a year as a Supreme Court judge to the $75,000 a year he now receives. This was "three times as much as the prime minister of Canada" now gets, he said.

CLERGYMAN, WIFE BEATEN IN OWN HOME

TORONTO (CP) — A United Church clergyman and his wife were beaten up by two men in their home early today in a mystery attack.

Rev. Raymond Hors, 44, said from his hospital bed later he could think of no reason for the attack except for some strong language he has used against those opposing the teaching of religious education in Ontario schools.

His wife, who was not man-handled as badly, said she thought it was a case of mistaken identity.

The intruders, who knocked on the front door of the Hors home, gave them no reason for the mauling.

Committed

BRANDON (CP) — Toronto businessmen Hugh Paton and D. Hubert Cox today were committed for trial on a charge of conspiring to steal $460,000 from Brandon Packers Ltd., of which they are principal owners.

They will appear at the next sitting here of Manitoba Court of Queen's Bench, scheduled for November.

Paton, 40, and Cox, 45, respectively president and vice-president of Great West Saddlery Company Ltd.—Brandon Packers' parent firm—have been free on bail of $25,000 each.

Tory Has Misgivings On China Wheat Deal

(From Times News Service)

misgivings Wednesday about the long-range wheat deal that Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton made with Communist China.

Fred Stinson (PC—York Centre) told the Commons:

"I for one cannot share in the jubilation of those who think that this great deal, which will bring a few dollars to this country over the next several years, is a big thing for Canada."

"In my opinion the Communist government in Peking has no interest in long-term trade ing with this country, which would be of benefit to both countries, and certainly very little interest in building an understanding between Chinese people and Canadians."

"In fact, and there is evidence of this out of the mouths of spokesmen of the government of Peking, they are determined to destroy capitalist countries 'by military or economic means.'"

Gov't Spending Carefully Probed

Eighteen sweeping inquiries into government operations, ranging from the purchase of paper clips and ships to employment of lawyers and landscape gardeners, are being undertaken by the Glassco royal commission on government organization.

The first report of the commission, outlining the scope of the 18 inquiry projects which will look into every nook and cranny of federal government operations, was tabled by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Head of the royal commission, appointed last September, is J. Grant Glassco, vice-president of Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Company Limited.

The report said the commission is concerned "with the 'how' rather than the 'why' of government squads of investigators will go through all departments looking for ways to eliminate duplication and improve procedures."

In the defence department, in addition to investigating overlapping services with other departments, the inquiry will concentrate on any conflicts between the organization of its military and civilian personnel.

Defence Minister Harkness said author Parley Mowat has "resorted to insinuations and innuendoes" in his "search for publicity."

Paul Hellyer (L—Toronto Trinity) had asked about a letter in the Ottawa Citizen appearing over Mr. Mowat's name which said militia units had been instructed to take action against members favoring nuclear disarmament.

Mr. Harkness said no such instructions had been issued and there was no intention of doing so. Such instructions would be contrary to regulations.

The minister said another "insinuation" by Mr. Mowat was that nuclear weapons were stored at United States bases in Canada.

Fulton Won't Release Drug Report

Justice Minister Fulton refused to reveal the contents of a special statement on drug prices prepared by the chief combines investigator.

He said the statement, written by D. H. W. Henry, director of combine investigation, is a restricted document and will not be made public.

Mr. Fulton, replying to Frank Howard (CCF—Skeena), said the statement had been made available to interested parties for comment before any official finding under the Combines Investigation Act.

"Any publicity given to the information contained in the director's statement—must therefore have originated from some person who had received a copy from the commission for the purpose of preparing submissions," said the minister. "This is unfortunate, but does not relieve me from the obligation of maintaining privacy."

He said that the Restrictive Trade Practices Commission will make a full report later to the government. This report would be made public.

Mr. Fulton said this answer also applied to a motion from Mr. Howard for copy of evidence by the combines investigation branch dealing with prices of certain pharmaceutical firms.

When Mr. Howard insisted that his request for information be met, the motion was put to a vote. It was defeated 148 to 37, with the Liberals and CCF voting against the government.

BYELELECTION OVERTONES IN COMMONS

OTTAWA (CP)—There were unspoken overtones of the Esquimalt-Saanich federal byelection in a Commons question today by Harold Winch (CCF—Vancouver East).

He asked what action is being taken on the urgent request by various organizations for a new breakwater at Port Renfrew on San Juan Bay.

Works Minister Walker said the first request came from George Chatterton, later supported by several organizations. He identified Mr. Chatterton as the reeve of Saanich—not as the Progressive Conservative candidate in the May 29 byelection.

He said the request is being carefully considered.

Drug Survey 'Only Beginning'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Officials of the British Columbia Narcotic Addiction Foundation said Wednesday night a survey among young persons on the availability of narcotics is no more than the beginning of an attempt to find out what information is available.

Dr. Lawrence Ranta, president of the B.C. government-sponsored foundation that deals in the research and treatment of drug addiction, said:

"It would be erroneous to draw any conclusions at this stage. We have no evidence that there are narcotic addicts in the schools."

Dr. Robert Halliday, director of the Foundation, said the survey covered young persons, not necessarily high school students, in a selected area of Vancouver to whom the Foundation staff had reasonable access to discuss the drug problem with them. He would not locate the area.

Dr. Ranta and Dr. Halliday were commenting on reports earlier Wednesday that the survey, conducted by senior counsellor, Gene Elmore, was conducted among 330 high school students. The reports said there are about 200 addicts in Vancouver under 21 years and that Mr. Elmore expressed shock at the number of young persons being exposed to illegal narcotics.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Farm, Sports Building To Be Started by PNE

(Compiled From CP)

VANCOUVER—Construction will begin this year on a $2,500,000 agricultural and sports building at the Pacific National Exhibition, Premier Bennett announced Wednesday.

Indications following the announcement were that the building, with seating capacity of between 8,000 and 9,000, might be ready for agricultural shows early next year and for hockey by the fall of 1962.

The premier made the announcement in an informal statement before more than 2,000 persons at the Exhibition Gardens as he declared open the second British Columbia International Trade Fair.

He said he met with a special PNE committee and was able to announce that construction would start this year. The province would put up $280,000 this year and would match any further contribution by the city of Vancouver and by Ottawa.

PNE president Dr. J. C. Berry said later the city and the federal government are expected to put up $280,000 each this year and the PNE will put up $450,000 from its surplus fund. This would total $1,290,000, enough to get the building program under way. The additional funds would be raised later.

TWO CHARGED
VANCOUVER — Two juveniles, believed responsible for a recent explosion that rocked Vancouver's south end, were charged Wednesday with illegal possession of explosives.

Police said the pair obtained four sticks of dynamite, 60 blasting caps and 25 feet of safety fuse from an abandoned logging company shack. One of the youths was 16, the other 17. No one was injured in the explosion.

PROBE GOES ON

VANCOUVER — Investigations are continuing into the financial aspects of Boys Town, B.C., a ranch community for wayward boys near Hope, Attorney-General Bonner said Wednesday.

"It is highly questionable that money put forward is adequately secured for public investment," he said.

The inquiry was launched in February, 1960, when Mr. Bonner warned business and community leaders to dissociate themselves from promoters of the project.

Mr. Bonner said the investigation is not complete.

Acting on advice from the attorney-general, officials of the New Hope Benevolent Society at Penticton have placed Boys Town under separate administration.

The society, which also has a private hospital project under

Giant Missile Fired From Underground

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (AP)—The Titan, the biggest missile in the United States military arsenal, was launched for the first time Wednesday from an underground site.

The Titan soared over the Pacific. Then, far at sea and high in the cloudless sky, it was purposely destroyed.

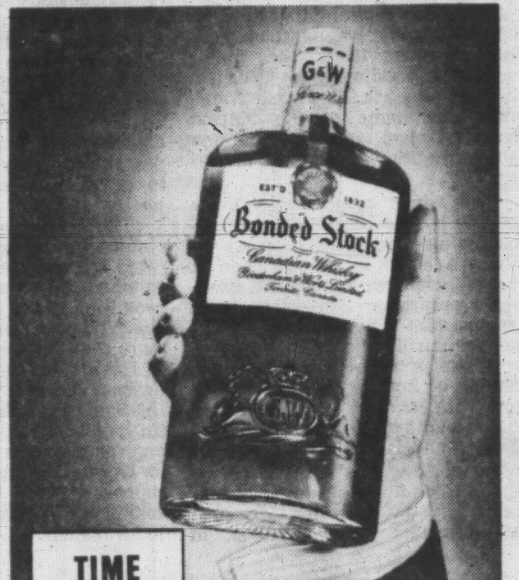

The test was to see if Titans could be fired safely from silos on hardened sites — the air force terminology for so-called bombproof launching pads on bombproof bases.

The air force said the test proved Titans could stand the tremendous pressures—including punishing sound waves—

'Sally Ann' Asks for Help

THE APPEAL FOR $245,000 by the Salvation Army last weekend is unique in many ways. It is the first time that the Army has gone out on a capital-gifts campaign since its Citadel was built on Pandora Avenue; it is the major community-building project in Greater Victoria this year; and, under the name of the Matson Sunset Lodge, it perpetuates a family tradition of renown in this area.

The whole project was made possible by the bequest of approximately nine acres of property at Mount Adelaide by the late Ada T. Matson, widow of the colorful newspaper proprietor Sam Matson. In keeping with Mrs. Matson's wishes, the Army will build on the promontory site a home for the aged, capable of housing 140 senior citizens, both married and single, with the tender care for which the "Sally Ann" is justly famous.

In so doing, the Army is carrying on a tradition of almost a century. It now operates 20 such establishments across Canada, in addition to its humanitarian work in the care of the hungry, the needy, the alcoholics, the unmarried mothers, and the desperate who have nowhere else to turn.

This work, unobtrusively performed down through the years, and at minimum cost, has won for the Salvation Army an affectionate spot in the hearts of all citizens. To the war veterans, it was known as "the service with a heart"; in peacetime, it is commonly referred to as "the service which never says no."

That appreciation of this spirit obtains in Greater Victoria is indicated by advance gifts and pledges totalling more than $50,000. It is a promising start, which will be advanced during the month of May by more than 500 volunteer canvassers.

Having served this area with selflessness and dedication for 75 years, the Salvation Army now appeals to the public for its building project, and for maintenance funds to cover its day-to-day services. In pledging support of the drive, The Times commends it most wholeheartedly to all readers.

At Least a Respite

THE FIRST STEP TOWARD A settlement of the problem in Laos has now been taken. The warring sides have agreed to a cease-fire. With the fighting now halted, the second stage can be achieved. This will involve operations of the three-nation control commission (India, Poland and Canada) formed to supervise the truce. Thirdly will come the Geneva conference, later this month, at which a general settlement may be reached.

The cease-fire has been a long time coming. During the weeks since it was proposed the Communist rebel forces have made important advances; the delay they created has been greatly to their advantage.

There is little reason to believe that the Geneva talks will be any less protracted. The Indo-China settlement which was reached by much the same procedures following the truce in 1954, was the result of tortuous negotiation and a last-minute agreement when the conference was breaking up in frustration.

The Indo-China settlement resulted in the country being divided into a Communist North and a non-Communist South. There has as yet been little speculation on a partitioned Laos. Both the United States and Russia have indicated that a neutral state would be acceptable. But the late advances of the Communist forces and the pressing desire of Northern Vietnam and Red China to see Laos go Communist may encourage further demands by the leftists.

In any event, cessation of the fighting in no way means cessation of the struggle. Former U.S. State

Secretary Dean Acheson has pointed out the error of the phrase: "As long as the Reds are talking, at least they're not fighting."

"Nothing," Mr. Acheson has said, "could be more untrue. They are fighting. They are adopting a tactic specifically prescribed by Lenin to delay the crises while demoralizing and weakening the enemy. To our minds international conferences and international negotiations are so completely a means for ending conflicts that we are blind to the fact that they may be, and in the hands of experts are, equally adapted to continuing it."

Geneva, then, will be the scene of hard bargaining. Laos is too attractive a plumb for the Communists to lose, particularly after the progress they have made in infiltrating and overcoming a large part of the country.

For the West, the big fact is that Laos, at any rate for the moment, has become less of a powder keg threatening to blow the world into a nuclear war. Further prolongation of the fighting might well have forced President Kennedy to decide on direct intervention, in order to balance the government forces against the rebels who have been receiving heavy outside support.

Beyond that it is difficult to say what the gains may be. There is little prospect that Laos will end up with a pro-Western government. A coalition containing Communists may be the answer, and this would in itself constitute an uneasy situation, for experience has been that coalitions with Communists are only a preliminary to renewed Communist efforts to master the administration.

Why Discourage Customers?

THE CANADIAN APPAREL and Textile Manufacturers Association complains that shipments of clothing and textiles from Hong Kong to Canada increased by 38.6 per cent between 1959 and 1960. "This onslaught on the Canadian market," says the Association's executive director, "appears completely out of control."

What are the real facts? The facts are that while Canada's imports from Hong Kong increased from $13 millions in 1959 to $15.5 millions in 1960, our exports to that British colony reached an all-time high, nearly doubling from $11.3 millions in 1959 to $20 millions last year. "We are selling much more to Hong Kong than we buy."

Our exports increased at a much greater rate than our imports, yet the Canadian textile industry cries that this is a ruinous trade. The increase in our exports to Hong Kong meant jobs for Canadians—even jobs for textile workers, since some of the exports were in the form of fabrics, knitted goods and blankets, along with canned goods, kitchenware and other products.

Regardless of the fact that it would be destroying Canadian export jobs, the Diefenbaker government has tried to get Hong Kong to impose "voluntary" quotas on its shipments to Canada. This Hong Kong has refused to do and the reason is not far to seek. A British colony, Hong Kong has been flooded with hundreds of thousands of Chinese refugees and needs every source of income it can obtain. To ask Hong Kong not to ship its goods to Canada is not only economically unsound but callous.

The "voluntary" quota system is the same which Mr. Diefenbaker has succeeded in forcing on Japanese exporters who wish to provide Canadian consumers with goods. Much is made in Ottawa of the fact that in 1960 Japanese shipments to Canada reached a record $110 millions. But these goods only helped to pay for the $178 millions of goods sent from Canada to Japan.

Would Mr. Diefenbaker diminish that record $178 million trade by cutting down on Japan's ability to buy from us? That is the cross-purposes policy he is following, incited by Ontario's textile interests, while wondering why Canada's unemployment totals are so high.

The Magic Words

THE NEWS DISPATCHES tell of a Congolese houseboy in Leopoldville who, disillusioned by the chaos into which his country has been plunged, asked his employer anxiously, "O, patron, when is the independence going to end?" "Independence" was a magic word in the Congo a year ago as the Belgians prepared to turn the country over to the native population. Some tribesmen thought it was something you could buy at the stores, others thought it would be distributed by the banks.

Now, the people who were never trained for political independence have found that there is no magic in the word itself; that, indeed, it means nothing unless it is coupled with another equally vital word: "responsibility."

LOOSE ENDS

A Choice of Signs or Bombs by the Road

To the botanist, if not the ordinary voter, it is interesting to see along our Island roads the sudden man-made blossoms burgeoning among nature's humbler varieties. The signs and placards of the Esquimalt-Saanich by-election are sprouting, the names and portraits of the candidates are contributing their little notes of beauty to the landscape and the banners of democracy are in the virgin wilderness.

Hutchison
bravely unfurled in the virgin wilderness.

A woodsman like our Freeman King, for instance, may resent this intrusion, may suspect privately that nature was doing quite well this spring without man's added decoration, may argue that our native lilies need no gliding by the politicians. But this is a narrow, if very common view and I am sure Mr. King does not share it.

YOU might say, indeed, that our local parliamentary poll is a microcosm representing the whole human dilemma, the struggles and, if things continue as they are, perhaps the death pangs of the democratic process everywhere.

Why is democracy in its present plight? Why is it that we seem unable in the free world to solve any basic problem while our enemies march from one triumph to another? Largely because, the free peoples of this generation, their freedom won by the bloodshed of earlier generations, no longer appreciate it or, at any rate, are unwilling to accept the responsibilities.

CERTAINLY, a voter in Esquimalt-Saanich cannot have much direct influence on the crisis of our times. He cannot decide for peace or war in Laos, he cannot solve the problems of the Congo or Algeria. His vote will not be noticed in the White House or the Kremlin.

But if the repair and salvation of the democratic process is to begin anywhere it must begin in just such places as Esquimalt-Saanich. If people in such places are uninterested in their own affairs, if they take no part in the democratic process where they possess the real power of decision, then they need not be surprised when great affairs spin out of control everywhere.

A MAN from Mars (doubtless due here at any moment) would suppose that at a time like this the free electors of Esquimalt-Saanich would be in a state of high excitement, the issues of the by-election argued furiously at every dinner table and street corner, the public meetings packed to hear the candidates, the whole constituency ringing with lofty debate on the principles of Conservatism, Liberalism, Socialism and Social Credit.

He might also suppose that the public would admire and thank any man willing to ruin his domestic life by entering the House of Commons, that the public would praise all those who are working for one candidate or another, without pay, that the people actually keeping the democratic process alive would be generally honored.

THAT man from Mars would be incredulous to find that about half the voters didn't know the names of the candidates and many of them were unaware that an important democratic decision was pending. He would be still more surprised to see that the men working for their candidates were generally regarded with boredom, skepticism, suspicion or contempt, as if they were pursuing some doubtful, perhaps dangerous purpose.

The visitor from another planet would understand at once that politics was the most vital business of this disordered earth, from Esquimalt-Saanich to the chancelleries of the great powers. He would see that the profession of politics was by far the most essential, and the most difficult of all professions, that only in the laboratory of politics, not in any chemical laboratory or scientist's test tube, could the human situation be solved, or even saved from ruin.

AND yet he would find most people in Esquimalt-Saanich, the local miniature of this vast upheaval, rather resenting the politicians and even their signs by the roadside. A wise man may not like the signs much either, he may think the woods look better as nature made them, but he knows that somehow the public must be awakened by innocent reminders like signs and speeches or else, in the end, by bombs. Which do the voters prefer?

AS OUR READERS SEE IT

The Saanich School Vote

Duty to Vote 'Yes'

May I point out some of the many valid reasons why I think it is of the utmost importance that Saanich (District 63) ratepayers vote "yes" for the school building bylaw on May 6.

1. The shift system just isn't good enough for our children. When I started school during the depression I had a much better chance to learn. We had a full day, with time to cover the work adequately. It is ironic that in these days of great progress and prosperity that the most important thing, education, should suffer.

2. The school board has proposed renting hall space should the bylaw fail again, in order to do away with shifts. This would cost more per year than the new buildings and would be money wasted. Also, it just isn't good enough, either for the pupils or the teachers.

3. In today's world, the position of any country, not to mention the living standard, is governed in the long run by its standard of education. It is all very well for people to say, "Why should I pay for educating other people's children?" If our educational standard drops, everyone, sooner or later, will suffer the consequences. It is the children who are the immediate victims.

In my opinion, it is our patriotic duty to vote "yes" on Saturday, May 6, and get these buildings built.

(MRS.) RUTH G. SPEIGHT,
4857 Townsend Dr.

'Same Old Deal'

Another school building bylaw is about to be presented in Saanich School District No. 63. While already thrice defeated, it is still the same old story over again, a plea to the home-owners to vote for an increase in their presently ridiculously high taxes.

I am sure that most home-owners will remember what happened to their taxes in 1960. Whether this was brought about by Mr. Bennett and his Social Credit Government or by our own municipal government is of no consequence. This year they are going to give us a break, no increase over last year perhaps. But just you wait and see what they do to you in 62. Mr. Bennett has already pressed the button that will bring about a whopping increase in your taxes next year. I refer to the increase there will be in your land assessment. Last year it was on your improvement assessment.

Since the last bylaw, Mr. Bennett has increased the gasoline tax by 3 cents per gallon. The increase is as much as 3.9 cents per gallon at the service station level. This is quite an item for the residents in School District 63 for most of us commute every day to our place of business in Victoria. On the average, it will mean an extra $30 to $40 per year for gas.

The so-called shift system is not as bad as some people would have us believe. Actually, it has had some distinct advantages. The juniors and seniors have been separated in the high schools with the result that the seniors have made better progress through being by themselves as an age group. Starting to school at noon has not proved to be any hardship to most students.

Mr. Bennett claims that our province is debt free and I, for one, choose to believe him. This being the case and considering our vast wealth in natural resources, we should certainly object to being the most heavily taxed people in all Canada.

Any figure that may have been quoted to indicate the increase in our taxes would only be the thin end of the wedge, you can depend on this. Right now, Mr. and Mrs. Homeowner, you are masters of your own destiny. If this bylaw is voted in, you will no longer have any say in that matter. Your assessments could be increased at will and by any amount. Sure, you could appeal to the court of revision, but I can tell you from experience that you would simply be wasting time.

ROY LOAK.

Think of the Results

As the time is now very near when we must again vote on the school building bylaw in District 63, let all of us concerned take one last, hard look at the situation.

All the groups are agreed that we must have more classrooms for all age groups.

There are other aspects of the bylaw on which we do not all agree. This is inevitable and must be carefully weighed along with everything else.

The school board has considered all possible aspects, population, transportation, and our children's future.

They have asked for and considered the opinions of many groups and individuals.

The district's most pressing needs, costs, types of construction, locations and facilities have been decided upon.

The plan is set. All that remains is for the voters to say yes or no.

Before you mark your ballot, please think of the results of another defeat.

1. Many elementary school children will continue to spend their school day in windowless, ill-ventilated rooms, never designed as classrooms.

2. Many older students will continue to receive little better than half a day's schooling.

3. The cost of transportation, renting halls, increased administration and renovations, will almost certainly be greater than the cost of the bylaw, and in return we will get far less.

4. You will continue to pay, in addition, the provincial tax, which money will be used for school purposes elsewhere (government pays 75 per cent of building costs).

Any area not satisfied with its school will have a far better chance of having something done if the bylaw passes, because if it is defeated everything will be scaled down, not up.

Not Just 'Agginsers'

It is inconceivable to me that responsible adults would not only vote against school money bylaws themselves, but would actually aggressively try to influence other voters to assist in defeating the bylaw.

It has been said that these bylaw opponents are just "agginsers," but I believe that this is not so, that they are sincere in their desire to have a change in school financing, and of school curriculum; but they do need money to carry on under the educational set-up which they are legally required to operate.

School financing and curriculum are not issues in Saturday's Saanich school referendum. These matters should be discussed with the pertinent M.L.A. of your choice. It is also to be noted that the Royal Commission on Education has recently tried to obtain the people's views on these contentious matters.

WASHINGTON:

Rules of The Game

By STEWART ALSOP

WHAT has been happening in Laos, and what threatens soon to happen in Vietnam, repeats a grim pattern. The pattern can be reduced to a simple formula. With Communist support, a guerilla movement grows until it becomes stronger than the regular military forces of the country. The Communists then take control, confronting the United States with the choice of intervening militarily in a situation where all the odds favor the Communists, or abandoning another nation to Communism.

Since the last war, this sequence of events has occurred in North Indo-China; in Cuba, and in China itself, with Laos and Vietnam next on the Communists' list. Even where a Communist-supported guerilla movement has failed, as in Greece, Burma, Malaya, and the Philippines, a very high price has been exacted.

In Malaya, to cite one example, a guerilla force which never numbered more than a few thousand tied down 80,000 British troops for ten years. This is enough to suggest why President Kennedy has asked Gen. Maxwell Taylor to re-examine the theory and practice of guerilla warfare. The re-examination is long overdue.

Intensely Undesirable

No sensible man doubts that sending American forces into Cuba or Laos or some other "peripheral country" is, to put it mildly, intensely undesirable. But does this mean that all the "peripheral countries" are to be conquered by indirection, until there is nothing left but an enfeebled Western Europe and a beleaguered North America?

The eventual answer to that question would appear to be "yes"—so long as we accept what this reporter's brother, writing from Vietnam, recently called "the double standard."

Under the double standard the Communists are at liberty to arm, supply, and support by all means short of actual invasion any Communist guerilla movement on non-Communist territory. But any attempt by our side to support a resistance movement in Communist territory is an act of war, and must be ruled out.

Surely it is clear that we cannot possibly win the game under such rules, and indeed that we must lose the game in the end. Must we play under such rules?

The answer depends in part on the peculiar nature of guerilla warfare. This reporter had a brief experience in the French Maquis (where he carefully followed Mao Tse-tung's rule that "guerillas should be as cautious as virgins") and has been fascinated with the subject of guerilla warfare ever since. A good deal of thought and study suggests that three requirements must be met if a guerilla movement is to be effective.

Popular Support

First, it must have popular support. In his brilliant treatise on guerilla warfare (which President Kennedy recently read) Mao Tse-tung wrote: "Guerillas are like fish, and the people are the water in which the fish swim. If the temperature of the water is right, the fish multiply and flourish."

The temperature of the water is in part controlled by the second and third requirements.

The second requirement is that guerillas must have support from without, if necessary overt and massive, as in the Soviet airlift to Laos. The third is that the guerillas, and finally the great majority of the people, must be convinced that the guerillas will win.

The available evidence clearly suggests that there are many places within the Communist empire where the "temperature of the water" could be "right." And it is not true that guerillas cannot operate against a totalitarian state—Hitler's secret police did not go in for slaps on the wrist, nor for that matter did Batista's.

The really difficult requirements for an open society to meet are the second and third.

Where the press is free and the opposition vocal, it is a very tricky business to support a resistance movement in a foreign country. And it is above all difficult for a democratic government to provide a foreign resistance movement with that certainty of victory which finally determines the "temperature of the water."

Only Substitute

For our side, the only substitute for the Communists' doctrine of historical inevitability is precisely the opposite of the course we chose in Cuba. It is a firm and believable pledge that the whole power of the United States will be used if necessary to prevent the destruction of an American-supported resistance movement.

As this suggests, we ought to recognize that this guerilla business is not a gimmick, or a cheap substitute for national power. If President Kennedy decides to change the rules of the game, a most violent reaction can be expected, for on this subject the nerves of the Communist leaders have always been raw.

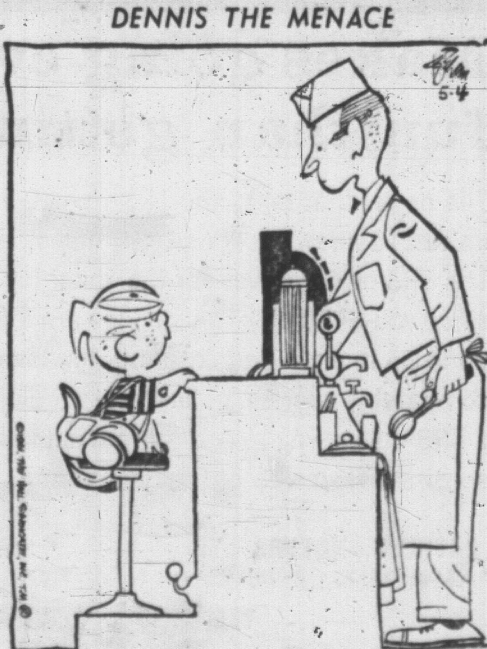

"We must dread these guerilla tendencies," Lenin shouted in 1919 when there were guerilla uprisings in the Ukraine. "We must dread them like fire or they will leap to our destruction."

But while recognizing the dangers of changing the rules of the game, we ought also to recognize that, if the rules are not changed, we shall lose the game in the end.

"HOW MUCH FOR A BANANA SPLIT IF I GOT MY OWN BANANA?"

Enough Is Enough

WHEN my more erudite colleagues discuss the higher reaches of economics in my presence, I put on a mask of absorbed concentration tinged with a gentle look of skepticism.

This gives me a faint and entirely misleading appearance of partial understanding that is not destroyed unless someone asks me a question.

Stott

In moments of disarming candor, I confess that economics is a personal matter with me—a Tuesday to Friday evening thing. Elsie gives me my pay cheque on Tuesday morning. I cash it Tuesday noon, take my money home at lunch time and hand it to the boss of our house. She passes back to me my weekly allowance.

With a certain frugality, that lasts until Friday night, when I'm broke again. Saturday, Sunday and Monday I operate on the Stott uneconomic theory of non-repayable loans. That means that I cadge four-bits or a buck from the boss of our house as occasion demands with the assurance that I'll give it back on pay day. The important feature in this transaction is not to specify which pay day.

I think that the boss of our house is gradually fathoming the Stott theory of the non-repayable loan. The cadging calls for a bigger effort these days, the non-repayable loans are becoming smaller. Still, they tide me over and are doubtless good for my soul, since they cut down on my high life and limit me to simple vices.

So while my colleagues talk of Keynes and Galbraith, I wear my penetrable mask of inscrutability and, behind it, struggle with those economic concepts understandable to a man who figuratively counts on his fingers in the subject. I can and do appreciate Mr. Micawber, who seems to me to have been an excellent theoretical economist, though a man who never let theory interpose itself between him and practice.

Against this personal background I have read a review by John Allan May of Sir Roy Harrod's "Topical Comment." Writer May notes briefly economist Harrod's view of "the affluent society." As a Tuesday-to-

Friday-evening member of the affluent society, I appreciate the quoted remark.

Sir Roy, it appears, has given consideration to the "possibility of economic satiety." He asks:

"Was this man's destiny, that, when he had reached the highest phase of material civilization yet known, he should be at the mercy of the salesman showing him how to spend the money burning his pocket on some tomfool idea?"

As Mr. May paraphrases the theme: "Enough is enough. The economic struggle we consider the central feature of human experience therefore may prove to have been a transitional episode. The main problem may be going to be how to pay for first-class education for all, particularly for all our leisure. Education cannot be mass produced."

This is an interesting thought. Conceivably the highest goal of our society may not be three cars in every garage. It is possible that material acquisition is not the ideal of civilization. Perhaps we do not benefit from the manufacture of appetites for more things.

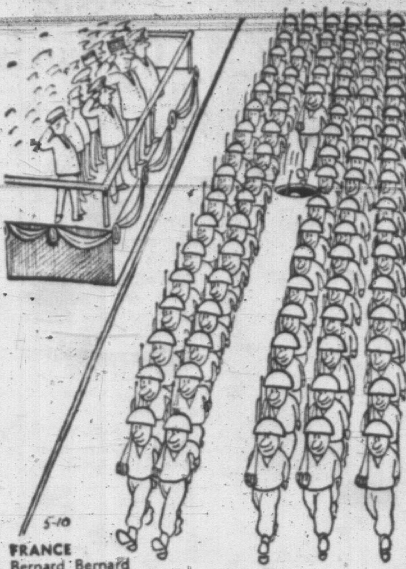

And perhaps if my understanding of Mr. May's opinion of Sir Roy Harrod's theme is correct, we ought to do something about all this, not particularly for ourselves, but for the youngsters. Let us, who are older, accept the stomach ulcers built into our affluently acquisitive society and suffer our breakdowns trying to keep up with the Antony Armstrongs.

But mightn't it be a good idea to point out to the kids that the affluent society, with all its symbolism, may fall a bit short of perfection? Wouldn't it be sensible to suggest to the upcoming generation that enough is enough—a point I find it hard to accept when somebody else is buying.

Isn't it logical to assume that if we concentrated less on the accumulation of things, the youngsters might avoid a prevailing impression that they are entitled to everything they want, be it good or bad for them?

This is a line of thought I find appealing on Saturdays, Sundays and Mondays, when economic compulsion removes me from the ranks of the affluent society. Or does this make me a Communist, speaking jealously about folk who are in the chips?

Unified Command Approved for Congo

COQUIHATVILLE, The Congo (Reuters)—United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld has approved "in its entirety" a plan to centralize all army units in the Congo under President Joseph Kasavubu. It was claimed here Wednesday.

The plan announced April 17 envisages use of a combined central government and UN force to impose a unified command under Leopoldville if necessary. Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko said. The UN Congolese agreement was seen aimed directly at Premier Moïse Tshombe of Katanga, placed under arrest after he walked out of the parley here last week.

Grain Sale May Be Factor In Recognition of China

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Green said Wednesday the big Canadian grain sale to Communist China "might be one" of many factors in Canadian consideration of the recognition to the United Nations.

He made the remark in the Commons external affairs committee under close questioning by Paul Martin (L-Exeter East) on the government's attitude to the twin problems of recognition and Chinese entry to the UN.

Mr. Green told Margaret Aitken (PC—York Humber) that "possible developments in world affairs would have a bearing on Canada's action."

He did not elaborate. Mr. Martin said Prime Minister Diefenbaker two years ago had maintained that China's membership in the UN should depend on expiation of violations against the UN charter.

Mr. Green said the Canadian position was much broader than that. Besides, problems didn't stand still but changed from month to month and year to year.

Mr. Martin asked if the government now felt other considerations were more important, and asked whether there is any connection between this problem and the grain sale.

Mr. Green said all such matters are inter-related. The government was looking at "the whole picture."

At another point, the minister said he thinks more UN members would vote against

Cold Frame 'Compass Setting'

Whether the slope of a cold frame should face north, south, east or west depends upon the purpose for which the frame is intended.

Jack

If it is to trap heat for the growing of plants out of season, or the germination of seed and care of seedlings in early spring.

The slope will be to the south with protection in some form on the north, east and west.

For the rooting of cuttings in July and August an east or north-slope is preferable since shading from direct sun is as important as heat.

A north-facing frame with a high back on the south side (or the wall of a building) is ideal for storing potted plants during their summer resting period.

Another much debated question is whether the covers of a cold frame should be free sliding or hinged at the back. My preference is the free sliding covers for the following reasons:

—In mild rainy weather the covers can be raised on four blocks (one to each side) to permit free ventilation without admitting the rain.

—In windy weather the covers can be blocked at the top, bottom, or either side so that the wind does not strike directly on the plants inside.

—The same is true in a driving rain. Either the top, the bottom, the left side or the right side can be raised sufficiently to permit air to enter and yet keep out the rain.

—Free covers can be used on two or more frames. When the plants in the first frame no longer need protection the covers can go over another set of plants in the second frame.

—When the frames are not in use the covers can be moved for storage in a safe place, and when properly stored on end there is less tendency to warp than when propped up with sticks.

SYNOPSIS—Wednesday's clearing over the lower mainland followed the passage of a disturbance into the southern interior. Following an unusual course this disturbance backed up overnight to again give showers over the lower mainland and southern Vancouver Island while at the same time extensive showers cover the southern interior.

Variable cloudiness but few if any showers will continue in northern parts of the province. Movement of the disturbance is now slow and uncertain but it will likely drift southward later today and Friday to bring a letup in shower activity and some breaks in cloudiness to the southern part of the province.

Back Europe Trade Area, Says Pearson

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Canada should take the lead in developing an Atlantic free trade area and not allow herself to be frozen out of overseas markets by isolation from the European free trade area, Liberal Leader Pearson said Wednesday night.

Canada cannot get out of its difficulties without expanded markets, he said.

"This is one area where we should show leadership. We should be at the forefront of an Atlantic development," he added.

Mining Reserve Law Eased

Mining reserves imposed for a big northern B.C. power project proposed in 1953 were partially lifted Wednesday by the provincial government.

The reserves were in the Cassiar district of northwestern B.C. and were made to aid the Frohisher-Ventures and Quebec Metallurgical Industries Ltd. power scheme on the Yukon River.

A cabinet order now permits mining in the area on the condition that no damages shall be claimed if the Frohisher project ever does go ahead and flood it out.

The Frohisher plan was to develop 4,300,000 horsepower by diverting the Yukon's headwaters through tunnels to London, 55; Rome, 59; Berlin, 50; Stockholm, 46; Madrid, 55; through Alaska to the Pacific.

No Witnesses So 'Brainwash' Charge Off

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—

Charges against three Americans accused of taking part indirectly in brainwashing of Americans during the Korean War have been dismissed.

They are John and Sylvia Powell of San Francisco and Julian Schuman, formerly of New York. They had revived in Shanghai the China Weekly Review, founded by Powell's father, the late John B. Powell. The government charged they used it to disseminate Communist propaganda.

One count of the indictment charged they circulated the magazine with intent, in the Korean War, to interfere with the operations and success of the U.S. armed forces.

Assistant U.S. attorney Charles R. Renda told the court he was unable to bring witnesses here from Communist China to support the government's charges. The indictment was returned April 25, 1956.

Americans captured in Korea charged the English-language paper was required reading in their prison camps as part of the Communists' brainwashing technique.

Douglas to Speak

HALIFAX (CP)—Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan will address a public meeting during an Atlantic provinces seminar to be sponsored here June 10 and 11 by the Nova Scotia and national committees for the New Party. It was announced Wednesday.

Mrs. SARAH ROSE WARDE
... A gift from Queen Victoria

QUEEN VICTORIA 'MUG'

Regal Souvenir Goes to Archives

Seventy-four years ago in London Mrs. Sarah Rose Warde received a china mug commemorating the 50th anniversary of the reign of Queen Victoria.

She now is presenting the mug to provincial archivist Willard Ireland for use at an Empire Day ceremony in front of the Legislative Buildings on May 19 next.

It will later be placed in the provincial archives. Silver-haired Mrs. Warde, now 86, was only 12 years old when she took part with 5,000 London school children in a huge festival celebration in Hyde Park marking Queen Victoria's golden jubilee.

At the queen's request 5,000 china mugs bearing the dates 1837-1887 were manufactured by Doulton's of England for distribution among the children. The queen did not present them but attended the celebration.

"I remember her well," Mrs. Warde said. "She stood a few yards away and she looked right at me and smiled. I don't remember what she wore, but I do remember the beautiful royal carriages drawn by black shiny-coated ponies."

HOT DAY

"It was a scorching hot day and there was lots of lemonade—not that manufactured stuff they drink now, but the real thing."

"We were all very excited and cheered ourselves hoarse when the queen arrived."

Mrs. Warde came to Victoria in 1900 and brought the china mug with her. She has guarded it carefully ever since—but only as a souvenir.

"It has never had anything in it," she said, "and as it is so old I thought Mr. Ireland might like to show it to the children on Victoria Day."

CEREMONIES
Mrs. Warde personally delivered the souvenir to him and Mr. Ireland accepted with pleasure, insisting that its owner should attend the Empire ceremonies.

"I shall be there," she promised, "and when I look at all those Victoria children I shall think of myself as I was at that age."

Mrs. Warde was married here in 1902 to Alfred Cecil Warde, who died two years ago. They had four children and Mrs. Warde takes great delight in her two grandchildren—regular visitors to her home at 1129 Empress Avenue.

PART OF HISTORY
"Victoria has changed out of all recognition," she said, "but it is still a good place to live. I only wish they would stop tearing down old buildings. They are part of our history and should be preserved as such."

"If we're not careful, the city will lose its Old World charm and become just another American city."

Blast Toll Rises
CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI)—The toll of Wednesday's explosion in a bootleg fireworks factory here rose today to at least 38 persons dead and 46 seriously injured. Dozens of other persons received minor injuries.

Symphony Short Of Funds

In spite of exceptionally high attendance at concerts and a record number of season-ticket holders this year, Victoria Symphony Society faces a deficit at the end of its fiscal year.

Friends of the symphony have been approached for donations to enable the society to complete plans for next year's concerts. At present, the society has 167 guarantors who are responsible for sharing the season's deficit.

The orchestra has given a total of 37 concerts this year, including some at Campbell River, Duncan, Cobble Hill and Sidney. Some 8,000 students attended special concerts financed by Canada Council funds during the year.

Concerts by the symphony at the Butchart Gardens have been cancelled, but symphony officials are hopeful that sufficient funds will be available for at least one free concert before the end of the summer.

Nuns Leaving Cuba

FROM BURNABY

School Band Here Friday

One of a series of exchange visits between Greater Victoria and mainland high school bands will take place Friday night at Esquimalt High School.

Visitors will be the Kensington Junior High School Band and choir of Burnaby, who are to give a concert under auspices of Esquimalt Junior High band. Director is Gordon King, formerly band and choir-master at Oak Bay Junior High.

The 60-piece band and 125-voice choir is bringing a program of good but light and generally well-loved songs, marches, suites and other pieces.

The Japan export trade promotion agency says 1960 exports to the U.S. totalled $1,080,000,000, a five-per-cent increase over 1959.

John Boel, Esquimalt band leader says, "you have to hear these young people play to believe it. They are really good."

Mr. Boel feels that public attendance at these band concerts is very important, not only for the morale of the student musicians but also because the concerts are the one and only source of income for maintenance.

He hopes the parents will support Friday's effort in a big way. "They don't have to worry about baby sitters for the young ones," he says, "they can bring the little ones at no charge—we have some music specially for them."

Concert time is 8 p.m.

Nanaimo Rally For Kinsmen

NANAIMO — An estimated 500 delegates from Kinsmen and Kinette clubs throughout B.C. will attend the annual district Kinsmen convention here May 19-23.

The convention will coincide with the annual Empire Day celebration, and the Kin parade on Saturday, May 20, will be one of the highlights of the holiday weekend.

Headquarters will be in the Civic Arena, which also will be used for the larger events. Business sessions will be held in the Eagles Hall, and several social events will be in the Malaspina Hotel.

Sunday afternoon and evening will be given over to a picnic and entertainment at Newcastle Island.

Each Island club has taken over management of a certain event of the entertainment program.

LAKE COWICHAN — Village commission here has set a tax rate of 38.05 mills for the year.

Tax for general purposes is 16.5 mills, schools 18.9 mills, debt 2.5 mills, and hospital district 15 mills.

GANGES — More than 80 persons attended an evangelistic youth banquet here under sponsorship of the newly-formed Bible Chapel, and with Rev. A. E. Sheppard, church pastor, as master of ceremonies.

Guest speaker was Rev. L. A. Pritchard, Vancouver, who showed slides taken on a missionary tour of Cuba. Rev. L. Siniceo, Duncan, sang in his native Indian tongue.

DUNCAN — Separate money bylaws for the raising of $1,593,963 to build the proposed new Cowichan District Hospital will be voted on in June by four separate hospital areas.

Costs by districts will be: North Cowichan, $512,639; Duncan, $186,334; Lake Cowichan, $527,960; Koksilah Valley, $367,010.

Federal and provincial grants will make up the balance of the total cost, which is yet to be fixed.

The new hospital will be built on Gibbins Road. There will be accommodation for 144 beds, but with provision for extra floors and an ultimate capacity of 350 beds. It will replace King's Daughters' Hospital.

COURTENAY — Mr. Island Princess arrived at Comox Wednesday with 68 Powell River residents on the first run of Coast Ferries, Ltd., twice-weekly ferry service between the two points.

At a celebration breakfast in the Elk Hotel, Comox, Chamber of Commerce officials suggested the new passenger and car service could become part of a loop trip to include Vancouver, Comox, Nanaimo and Victoria.

DUNCAN — Officers of the newly-formed Cowichan Valley Athletic Club are Sandy Maynard, chairman; Jeff Hunter, vice-chairman, and Miss Jane Russell, secretary. The group

Funeral Friday For Contractor

DUNCAN — Funeral services will be held here Friday at 2 p.m. for Henry George Hamilton, 69, local electrical contractor, who died here Tuesday.

Born in Ontario, he had lived at Regina; Vancouver and Sidney before making his home here 17 years ago.

A past-president of Duncan Rotary Club, he also had been a member of the Canadian Legion, BPOE, Cowichan Golf and Country Club, Cowichan Valley Gun Club, FOE, and Maple Bay Yacht Club.

Surviving are the widow, Mary; a son, Ross, in Duncan; a daughter, Mrs. R. J. Robertson, West Vancouver; three grandchildren; his mother, Mrs. W. H. Hamilton, Duncan; and two brothers in Saskatchewan.

Duncan Curlers Face Loss of Ice Surface

DUNCAN — Local curlers are faced with the loss of their ice surface next season.

Cowichan Co-Operative Curling Association owns the curling rink, and until now has rented it to Duncan Curling Club at the rate of $8,000 for a five-month season.

For the coming season the association wants to charge the club $12,000 for five months. As an alternative, it has offered the club the rink for the full year for $14,500. Both propositions have been rejected by the club.

Club dues are $7,200; and skating sessions run by the club gross from $3,000 to $4,000. However, club president

Danny Robertson has estimated cost of operation of the rink at $18,000 to $20,000 per year.

Mr. Robertson has called a meeting of the club for May 11 to seek a solution.

HEES:

Work Together To Build Trade

OTTAWA (CP). — Trade Minister Hees warned Wednesday that Japanese and Western European products are displacing Canadian goods on world markets in "increasing quantities."

Senator Raps 'Back Door Tariffs'

OTTAWA (CP). — Senator David Croll (L.-Ontario) accused the federal government Wednesday of trying to establish "back-door protectionism" for Canadian manufacturers by secret and arbitrary revisions in the tariff structure.

He spoke as the Senate resumed debate of the government's bill to change the definition of imports considered to be of a class or kind produced in Canada.

The Liberal opposition in the Senate already has served notice it plans to move to kill a provision in the bill giving the minister arbitrary power in certain tariff decisions.

"I'm not prepared to give the government a blank cheque in protectionism and, more particularly, to delegate power of absolute decision to the minister and thus bring into being government by ministry," said Senator Croll.

The government wants to raise tariffs whenever and wherever it can get away with it," he said.

But to do so without right of appeal or review, he said, was "sheer governmental madness."

He said that the Senate had an opportunity to continue to be an effective revising chamber by cutting out the arbitrary powers granted the minister under the proposed amendments.

He told the Commons these countries—once Canadian customers—now are giving Canada its toughest trade competition since before the Second World War.

"We must do things a whole lot differently than we are doing them at present if we are successfully to meet and overcome that competition," he said.

The best way to make Canadian products competitive is to follow the example of the competitors, Mr. Hees said.

"They did it by co-operation between management, labor and government to bring costs down and improve quality and design."

The result can be full employment, and not the second highest but the highest standard of living in the world," Mr. Hees said.

Mr. Hees spoke as the Commons resumed debate on the trade department's spending estimates for the fiscal year that began April 1.

Turning to European trade, Mr. Hees said he shares the concern of other MPs about the effects on Canadian trade of developments in the European Economic Community and the European Free Trade Association—the common market "inner six" and the "outer seven" respectively.

"Should the ultimate shape of these regional trading blocs eventually evolve in an inward-looking or protectionist trading form, then a backward step will have been taken in the progress of international trade."

U.S. BUSINESSMAN Robert E. McCann, 60, held prisoner in Communist China for 10 years on espionage charges, died of cancer today in a Manila hospital almost a month after gaining his freedom.

Wife Charges 'Frameup'

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters). — Mrs. Adolf Eichmann sent a letter to Israeli attorney-general Gideon Hausner claiming her husband never ordered the death of any Jew and is the victim of a "frameup," it was disclosed here Wednesday.

The charge that Eichmann was responsible for the deaths of 6,000,000 Jews "is a fake and you know it," the letter said.

"My husband fought for the Jewish people and helped wherever help was needed."

A copy of the letter, written last month by Mrs. Eichmann, who remained here after her husband's abduction by Israeli agents, was made public by Klaus Eichmann, the couple's eldest son.

UNDERGROUND FIGHTER TESTIFIES

'One Dog Called Eichmann'

(CP from AP-Reuters). JERUSALEM — A Jewish underground fighter in the Second World War testified today that a German army sergeant told him Adolf Eichmann was "organizing everything" in the Nazi campaign to exterminate European Jews.

Abba Kovner, now a writer in Israel, told the three-judge court trying Eichmann for complicity in the wartime murder of millions of Jews, that his informant, Wehrmacht Sgt. Anton Schmidt, was executed by the Nazis for helping the Jews.

Kovner said he had a secret meeting with Schmidt one night in January, 1942, in a Lithuanian village.

"We had a few drinks," Kovner testified. "Schmidt was nervous. I asked about Gestapo officers behind the extermination of Jews and the Nazi persecution in ghettos."

"I asked him about local Gestapo commanders, Schmidt said to me: 'these local commanders have no say. There is one dog called Eichmann and he is organizing everything.'"

"Another prosecution witness, Meir Dvorski, told of a bureaucracy of death in the Nazi-created ghettos of Eastern Europe. Dvorski said "lebensschemen"—life certificates—were issued to Jews picked for a respite from the gas chambers and firing squads, but that the Jews themselves had to decide who should be saved.

"If a man had a wife, two children and a mother, he had to choose whom to register because only four persons could be entered on the life certificate," said Dvorski, a physician in the Vilna, Lithuania, ghetto.

Also read to the court was a report by a Nazi general who described German troops who slaughtered Jewish men, women and children in Warsaw's flaming ghetto as "model" soldiers. Maj. Gen. Juergen Stroop, in his 75-page report made in 1943 to SS Elite Corps chief Heinrich Himmler, detailed the remorseless hunt for the ghetto's starving inhabitants.

Stroop was sentenced to death by an American military tribunal at Dachau, West Germany, in 1947 for shooting hostages in Greece. He later was extradited to Poland, tried again for war crimes, and executed in Warsaw Sept. 8, 1951.

FIRST SMILE DISPLAYED BY EICHMANN

JERUSALEM (UPI). — Adolf Eichmann cracked a smile in court today—for the first time since his trial started nearly a month ago.

As usual after the mid-morning recess the clerk of the court called out in Hebrew "the court, the court" as a signal that the three judges were entering.

Everyone, including Eichmann, stood. Then it was seen to be a false alarm. A burst of laughter exploded around the courtroom and Eichmann allowed himself a wintry smile, which he quickly suppressed.

'Double' Motor Popular

This could be the year that the inboard-outboard drive establishes itself as answer to the small boat operator's plea for something that combines the advantages of both inboard and outboard engines.

It is of interest to a limited group. Owners of big, powerful runabouts and cruisers are satisfied with their inboard engines, as are the fishermen who have a lightweight outboard which travels in the trunk of the car.

The fellow who is constantly torn between inboard and outboard is the owner of the small, high-speed runabout, or cruiser, of from 16 to 20 feet. His group—the trailer boaters and water skiers—owns what is probably the biggest portion of the pleasure boat fleet.

Looking back in the short history of boating, one sees the big outboard as a rather cranky thing, difficult to start, and expensive to operate. Post-war developments in ignition and induction, such as the reed valve, made the outboard a much happier machine, and a delight to operate.

Outboards Grow to Dinosaur Size

Outboards were so good that they kept getting bigger, and bigger, and bigger. Right now the largest are somewhat akin to the dinosaur—too big to exist—and are certainly awfully big, clumsy, and heavy to have hanging over the stern of a boat.

But they are portable, up to a point. They also have the great advantages of propeller thrust directly forward, positive steering, the protective tilt-up feature, and ease of installation.

Inboard engines over the same period lost ground because of installation cost, and lack of flexibility in taking the boat in and out of water because of weight and vulnerable protruberances.

In their favor, though, they had four-cycle operation which many owners prefer, a motor that is low in the boat for low centre of gravity, and better weight distribution, and a position under cover.

This latter feature is a mixed blessing. A motor under a hatch is better protected from thieves and the weather, but the fire danger is higher.

Five Firms Now Active In Field

The inboard-outboard drives combine all the advantages of both and none of the disadvantages for the addition of only a very few pounds in weight.

Today there are available the Volvo-Renta, Maelstrom-Muncey, Graymarine-Eaton, Interceptor-Eaton, and Universal.

Outboard Marine, manufacturers of Evinrude and Johnson outboards, have joined a V-4 inboard two-cycle engine with an outboard unit for a total weight of only 285 pounds.

Kiekhaefer Corporation, manufacturers of the Mercury outboard, will have their MerCruiser stern drive unit available in June. This is made to accommodate any marine engine of from 125 to 200 horsepower.

West Bend have matched a four-in-line two-cycle engine with a Brunswick outboard drive for their contribution to the movement.

The inboard-outboard drive is not new. There were types available 30 years ago, but they were heavy and unsatisfactory. Today's advanced engineering and metallurgy, plus a far larger market to warrant research, have made the modern units possible.

'Smear' Tactics Enter Federal Byelection Race

Paint-smeared Socred signs along Pat Bay Highway are being replaced today with — officially — no hard feelings.

But some candidates expressed gratitude that this was the first real color in the Esquimalt-Saanich byelection campaign, even though the color is black.

Somebody—and no questions are going to be asked says Socred George Hahn—smeared the black paint on 14 of the biggest signs yet to appear in the contest.

The 12 by six foot signs from Central Saanich border to Swartz Bay said "Vote George Hahn." The smearer left the "Vote" and the "George" but obliterated the "Hahn."

The other George in the campaign is Saanich Reeve Chatterton, the Conservative candidate.

"I don't like those signs," he said, "but I don't think that is the right way to express dissatisfaction."

He said the signs disfigure the beauty of the countryside and he won't put any up himself.

Most of the other signs on the highway are those of Glen Hamilton of the New Party.

A Hahn campaign official pointed out that they were untouched, but said the Socreds aren't going looking for the paint culprit.

"NOT GEORGE"

"Well, my name isn't George," said Mr. Hamilton. "We have given strict instruction to all our workers not to interfere with in any way with any other party's material."

Said Mr. Hahn: "I am not interested in getting into a controversy. I am disappointed to think an effort is being made to make an election issue of such matters of no consequence."

Dual Deaths Mean Chair For Killer

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Floyd A. Holzapfel, confessed killer of Judge C. E. Chillingworth and his wife, was sentenced Wednesday to die in Florida's electric chair.

Judge Russell O. Morrow complimented Holzapfel for his aid to the state in solving the Chillingworth mystery, but told him he could show him no mercy, such as the convicted mastermind of the 1955 slayings received from a jury.

Joseph Peel, convicted of ordering Holzapfel to carry out the murders, started a life term in the state prison last week. A jury's mercy recommendation saved him from the chair.

At Peel's recent trial, Holzapfel testified that the former West Palm Beach city judge ordered him to kill Chillingworth because Peel feared exposure of racketeering in which he and Holzapfel were engaged.

Chillingworth and his wife, Marjorie, were abducted from their home in June, 1955, and drowned in the Atlantic, Holzapfel said.

ONE THAT GOT AWAY

Scoring what proved to be winning goal, New Westminster's Ron Loftus (12) heads for fall after taking belated check from Victoria's Ron Jay. Second-period goal escaped sprawling Victoria netminder, Gordie Johnston, while defenceman Al Davies (5) looks on. Westminster went on to post 9-3 decision for third straight win in young Inter-City Lacrosse League season.

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

Two years ago some nut predicted in the Victoria Daily Times that a horse named Tomy Lee would win the Kentucky Derby.

The Times handicapper had to be a nut. Nobody in his right senses would commit his Derby selections to paper. The Derby is the sort of race where clutching, grabbing, blocking and other forms of larceny are so rampant as to make Matt Dillon shudder.

Nearly everybody knows what happened in '59. Tomy Lee (bless him) kept his snout in front long enough to win the run for the roses. The men in the white coats who were prepared to wrap up the Times prophet for safekeeping left dispiritedly.

This year it may be different. After extensive research (tea leaves, a whiff of opium and a roll of the dice) the Times is prepared to give you the winner of the 1961 Derby.

Let's look the field over. It shouldn't take long. Sixteen or so will likely enter the starting gate. Of these a mere half dozen will be in the right paw. The rest are nice guys and dolls who will probably finish.

The select six have to be Dr. Miller, Globemaster, Crozier, Flutbury, Four-and-Twenty and Carry Back.

Price Is Much Larger Than Heart

Of these Globemaster, Dr. Miller and Flutbury are not as certain as death and taxes. Globemaster is quick, cost $80,000 and is suspect of having a heart as large as a pea.

He won the $75,000 Wood Memorial two weeks ago but nobody put the question to him early. Give him his nose and he's gone. He'll have plenty of early company Saturday.

Dr. Miller and Flutbury are chargers. Most times they haven't cut in their afterburners until it was too late. Willie Shoemaker helps the doctor's chances but even his presence isn't calculated to make the leaders come back in time.

Flutbury (a son of Noor) is an enigma. A stablemate of Four and Twenty (Alberta Ranches' Max Bell and Frank McMahon, owners; Vagge Longden, trainer, John Longden, jockey). Flutbury has talent and a few quirks. Jockey Longden says he's lazy, won't run past horses and shies from shadows. If the Longdens can straighten him out by Saturday, they deserve to win but don't hold your breath.

Four and Twenty appears to be a better risk. His blinding speed (Longden says he "loves to run") throttled all his colleagues in the Santa Anita Derby.

Sir Barton Canada's Only Winner

No matter how fervently you might want the Canadian-owned Four and Twenty to win (the first and only Canadian to grab the Derby was Sir Barton in 1919) his chances are not star-bright.

He dazzled them with his footwork to the eighth pole of the Derby Trial Tuesday. Then Crozier hooked him, said "bye-bye" and pulled ahead to win easily.

This brings us to Crozier and Carry Back. Twice—in the Florida Derby and Flamingo—Crozier lost to Carry Back by the thickness of the latter's mustache.

If Crozier repeats his success of Four and Twenty Saturday he could prove difficult for Carry Back to catch. Difficult, that is, but not impossible.

Carry Back is a horseman's horse. Fast or moist, long or short he does his best. For owner Jack Price, Carry Back's best has been fine. His exact earnings escape memory but the feeling is that he will enrich Mr. Price by $117,500 Saturday afternoon.

The mile and a quarter should suit him perfectly. Johnny Sellers (some say he's another Shoemaker) fits Carry Back like a velvet glove.

They'll make a lively picture with the garland of roses in the winner's circle at Old Churchill Downs.

They better or some nut is going to get pretty tired of eating crow.

The former New York Yankees infielder has hooked on with the New York team in the National League.

Not the Place To Talk Shop

Boston Bruins are reported dickering with Phil Watson to take over as coach of their National Hockey Club, but you won't get anything official on it from Bruins' general manager Lynn Patrick while he's in Victoria.

"I don't want to make a statement from Victoria when I have something to announce," he said Wednesday. "I'll announce it in Boston where the people who pay the money to see my club will get the news first."

Lynn, visiting his mother

here, was asked to comment on a report in a Boston paper Wednesday that Bruins will announce Watson's appointment next month. Watson, formerly coached New York Rangers of the NHL and Providence Reds of the American League.

"They're just guessing," Patrick said. "We haven't signed Watson to a contract yet." The Boston report said Watson will succeed coach Milt Schmidt next season and that Schmidt will remain as an assistant to Patrick.

It Took Time, But Spahn Now Proves He's Capable

Warren (No-Hit) Spahn, the 40-year-old miracle whip of Milwaukee, finally has convinced everyone—including the once skeptical, but no longer, Los Angeles Dodgers.

It used to bug Spahn that he never could seem to beat the Dodgers. It annoyed him that the fact was regularly babbled about in National League dugouts, and it bothered him even more that the Braves would accommodate him each time they met Walt Alston's gang.

Perhaps as a reward for his no-hitter against the Giants last Friday, Spahn was allowed to start against the Dodgers in Milwaukee Wednesday night for the first time since June 5, 1959.

The hawk-nosed southpaw wasn't able to turn in another no-hitter, but he came close with a sparkling two-hit 4-1 victory that was the 291st of his major league career and left him only nine wins shy of Lefty Grove's 300-game total. Spahn struck out nine and walked only two in bringing his season record to 3-1. "I think I had better stuff than last Friday," he said elatedly after the game.

The only two hits Spahn gave up were Jim Gilliam's bloop double to left center with two out in the third inning and Tom Davis' clean single with two out in the ninth.

Spahn, who has allowed a total of only four runs in his four starts so far this season, did his part with the bat, too, collecting a double and two singles in his first victory over the Dodgers since July 30, 1958. He now owns a 2-9 record against the Dodgers since the Braves came to Milwaukee in 1953, and a lifetime mark of 15-30 against them.

San Francisco regained the National League lead with an 8-4 victory over Chicago, while St. Louis dropped Pittsburgh into second place with a 3-1 decision. Cincinnati stretched its winning streak to four games by beating Philadelphia 9-3.

The New York Yankees climbed into a tie for first place in the American League by defeating Minnesota, 7-3, and Washington downed Detroit, 5-4. Cleveland won its third straight by clipping Chicago 4-3. Kansas City bounced Boston, 9-8, in 10 innings, and Los Angeles came from behind to beat Baltimore, 7-6.

The Downswing

The clubhouse pauses for the merest instant at the top of the swing as the wrists cock, but the smooth, flowing motion should not be interrupted.

During the momentary pause, the body should start unwinding for the downswing. The hips should be rotated to the left and the weight will shift back to the left foot in coordination with the swing. As the body rotates, the left arm, still straight but not rigid and elbow in close, pulls the club down and through the ball.

The right arm is right along in the swing, but it is guiding rather than propelling.

The wrists should not uncock until they have reached the hitting area, which is always below the waist line. Then they should snap into action, giving the clubhead impetus as it contacts the ball.

The hitting area varies with each individual, but great drivers, like great knockout artists in the prize ring, throw their Wrists should not uncock until they reach the hitting area, which is always below the waist line.

Cleanup Drive Unpopular As Vics Drop Opener 9-3

New Westminster 9, Victoria 3

By ERNIE FEDORUK

They took the wraps off Victoria's entry in the Inter-City Lacrosse League, but one would have to suspect that nobody really examined Arnie Ferguson's package Wednesday night at Memorial Arena.

Everybody seemed anxious to inspect the efforts of Jack Northup and Doug Bamforth, the whistle-toting supervisors at the unveiling.

So much so, in fact, that the new officiating policy equal chances to make good. Which, it says here, may be unfortunate.

Westminster had superior marksman, but the Vics hustled so the folks are ready to give Fergie's Fellows a few more chances to make good. They'll quickly forget Victoria's 9-3 setback. But better arguments than the ones supplied Wednesday will have to be produced before the fans give the new officiating policy equal chances to make good. Which, it says here, may be unfortunate. If the Vics deserve another chance because they tried, then the league should be afforded a similar opportunity. The ICCL feels something has to be done to pep up the national sport. Give 'em credit for trying, even if the first glances indicate the policy is rather extreme.

'Church Social,' Cry of Oldsters

Running through the corridors between quarters, it was not difficult to decide that the fans don't like it. Old-time players objected to buying tickets to a "church social."

Most of those who ventured opinions also added that "something could be done to clean up the game, but..."

Why the squawking then? It may not be directed at the new policy as much as it is at one particular part of it. That's the new call on slashing. They are clamping down hard and fast on any player whose stick clips a rival player's arm ABOVE THE GLOVE.

Norm Kowalyk, who toiled with the Vics last year, is one of the former players who feels the new slashing rule is being carried to extremes.

"That type of checking never hurt anyone," he ventured. "Sure, they can clean up the game, but there are other ways."

For example, Kowalyk said, the referees could clamp down on boarding infractions. Whether a player had the ball, or not, it was worth his life to work near the boards. "Make 'em play only the ball," was Kowalyk's suggestion.

Fergie Wants Mayhem Eliminated

Ferguson, and rival coach Jack Byford both took Wednesday's officiating in stride.

Fergie would like to see some of the mayhem eliminated.

"There's nothing prettier," he says, "than to see a player shift another out of his boot straps. The rules wouldn't allow that last year. A defender would practically cut off an attacking player's leg before anyone could get by."

Like all experiments, it might not work the first time. Those who were quick to criticize Northup and Bamforth seem to forget the new rules are just as new to them as they are to the players.

That would account for, as Victoria manager Whitey Severson phrased it, "wishy-washy calls."

Northup and Bamforth dealt out 56 minutes, including a 10-minute misconduct to Victoria's Ron Jay in the last minute of play.

Victoria drew 32 minutes New Westminster 24. There was no doubt as to who was best able to take advantage of the penalties.

The mainland team, marking up its third straight victory, scored twice while holding the odd man. In addition, Westminster was able to score four times while short-handed themselves.

The Vics, who lacked finish around goal, failed to impress anyone with their odd-man at-

Kings Refuse To Play Dead

EDMONTON (CP)—Goalie Paul Sexsmith was the stand-out as Edmonton Oil Kings defeated Toronto St. Michael's College Majors 4-2 Wednesday night before a crowd of 6,114 fans in the fifth game of the Memorial Cup final.

The win still left Toronto with a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven series for the Canadian junior hockey championship.

The sixth game is Friday night and the seventh, if necessary, Saturday night.

The two teams move to New Westminster for round No. 2 tonight.

Kings Refuse To Play Dead

Dennis Kassian, almost benched for poor play earlier in the series, scored twice for Edmonton. Other Kings goals came from Don Chiz and Dave Richardson. Toronto goals were scored by Bruce Draper and Andre Champagne.

Sexsmith, a 20-year-old Winnipeg product picked up by Kings in mid-season, blocked 36 shots as he robbed the hard-shooting Majors, who held a good edge in territorial play throughout most of the game.

OUTDOOR REPORT

BY Doug Peden

John Buckmaster of the Victoria Gun Club did some fancy bird-busting off the mainland last weekend but he didn't quite make it to the presentation stand for one of four major prizes up for grabs in the Lower Mainland Gun Club's annual "spring tonic" skeet shoot.

John missed only one of 100 targets as he topped "B" class shooters in 12-gauge competition. The tally was only good for a tie with North Vancouver's Earl Caldwell, who is better known for his ability to clopper trap targets. Caldwell, only other contestant to crack 99 during the day, grabbed the top prize by besting Buckmaster in a shoot-off.

Two other Victoria trigger experts were also up near the top. Veteran Dab Noble blasted 96 birds to set the pace in "A" class and Bill Pearsall finished with 95. Biggest winner was perennial all-star Frank Cooper of Burnaby, who collected three of the four top prizes. Cooper was the best of the 20-gauge class with 49 out of 50, out in front with the tiny .410-gauge weapon, as he cracked 47 of 50 targets, and posted the best overall tally.

Problems of public access to areas suitable for outdoor recreation are becoming more serious every year and the rest of the province might be advised to take a good look at access regulations in the Nanaimo area.

Ted Barsby, former president of the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs, again drew attention to the fact that the Nanaimo Lakes section is the only watershed in Canada open for recreational activity while speaking to the Nanaimo Fish and Game Club.

"We are proving the water supply does not become contaminated if hunters and fishermen use discretion," he said.

The Nanaimo experiment is of major importance to all Vancouver Island sportsmen because the number of watersheds is bound to increase as the population mounts. It has long been argued that officials, attempting to safeguard water supplies, have blocked the public from much larger areas than is necessary.

"Unless we can prove we can hunt safely in these areas," said Barsby, "the entire Island may eventually become closed to sportsmen."

The Nanaimo club also enjoys excellent relations with logging companies and its access pattern has been so successful it has been adopted by several other game clubs in the province.

It was a memorable weekend for members of the Nanaimo group. They made their annual banquet the first social function in their new $20,000 clubhouse on Nanaimo Lakes Road.

During the evening, Larry Crais received a trophy as the member taking a deer with the best antlers last season and Gus Schivardi took the trophy for the largest trout.

Times Champ Seeks Gorge Vale Tee Title

Defending champion Wilbur De Silva can expect some hot competition in the Gorge Vale Club's handicap championship which gets underway Sunday.

Among the 158 challengers is Norm Boden, newly-crowned Times Vancouver Island open champion.

Second round of the medal competition will be played May 21.

Quality Up, Entry Down

VANCOUVER—Lloyd Swindells, who first took part in the Vancouver Relays as a competitor 12 years ago, says the entry list for the 13th annual meet is down—but the potential greater.

The meet will be run off Friday and Saturday at University of British Columbia as part of Vancouver's 75th birthday celebrations.

Among the entrants are Fred Scheffer of Spokane, second-ranked U.S. collegiate discus thrower; Javelin ace John Fromm of Tacoma; Ed Southern, silver medalist in the 400-metre hurdles at the 1956 Olympics; and Victoria sprinter Lynn Eves.

HOUSE 1 WINS

Royal Oak Athletes Shatter 11 Records

The track was slow but the runners and jumpers were fast Wednesday when Royal Oak High School held its annual interhouse track competition.

Eleven records were broken by fleet and agile thincials on a damp track. House I took the honors with 155 points. House III finished second with 133 points, followed by House II with 117.

Phil Minter and Cliff Wood tied for senior boys' honors. Jean Davis led the senior girls. Willy Lok and Russ Ball were junior winners.

City Car Leads Way at Regina

REGINA (CP) — Prairie dust was the hazard confronted by drivers of 96 cars Wednesday as they wheeled their way across Saskatchewan from Winnipeg on the fourth leg of the 4,100 mile Trans-Canada Auto Rally.

Traveling the back alleys of the country, the cars were taken down country lanes and through remote farm towns on the 400-mile jaunt.

Leading the pack into Regina, after stopping for a gruelling hill climb test in the Qu'Appelle River Valley 25 miles north of the city, was a 3.8-litre Jaguar driven and piloted by J. S. Wells and F. Berry of Victoria.

There were 106 entries in the contest for 71 trophies and a total $5,000 in cash when the rally started Sunday in Montreal. But engine trouble and other mechanical problems took a toll of cars and one fatal accident marred the contest.

Tuesday, navigator Bill Roscoe of Montreal was killed when the Austin 850 in which he was riding was in collision with another car of the same make near Port Arthur. Driver Ken Withers, also of Montreal, is reported still unconscious in Port Arthur hospital.

Today's lap on the drive to Vancouver was to be about 550 miles to Edmonton, where the cars would be put through a braking test, then another 190 miles south to Calgary for a compulsory lay-over.

VOLVO IN FRONT

The test here was one of driving skill as the cars were required to climb an eight-tenths of a mile hill of dust, bumps and ruts before pushing into the city.

There were about 500 persons at the hill to watch and another 500 to greet the cars at the city.

Still in front with no penalty points after leaving Winnipeg was the Volvo factory-entered team of Sam Nordell of St. Martin, Que., and Tony Wilson of Dorval, Que.

MAIN EVENTER in Saturday's professional wrestling card at Memorial Arena is rugged Gene Kiniski, who tangles with Guy Brunetti. Three other bouts are also scheduled, starting at 8:30 p.m.

Naval Curlers Making Plans

Members of the RCN Curling are planning to increase their activities next winter.

The naval rock-tossers hope to operate a 24-rink league on a twice-weekly schedule at the new Esquimalt arena.

In the recent season, the rink of F. Neill, J. Cameron, H. Ashcroft and T. Emberton (skip) captured first-half honors and the quartet of R. McConnachie, D. Scoville, E. Traut and F. Burger (skip) won the second-half award.

GERMAN BANK RATE SLICED

FRANKFURT (Reuters).—The West German bank rate today was lowered one-half per cent to three per cent. The lower rate will go into force Friday.

Sales to Cuba Fall Off

OTTAWA (CP).—Speculation last fall that there would be a sudden major upswing in Canadian exports to Cuba resulting from the United States trade embargo hasn't been borne out by the latest figures on Canadian sales to the island republic.

Exports to Cuba in January totalled $2,155,800, the trade department reported Wednesday, down somewhat from the December total of $2,454,000.

The December exports, accomplished about one month after the U.S. embargo was applied, were the highest for any month in the last two years.

Vantel TV Holdings on Block

VANCOUVER (CP).—Art Jones, president of Vantel Broadcasting Co., which operates CHAN-TV, the city's private channel, is negotiating with Taylor, Pearson and Carson for sale of part of his holdings.

Mr. Jones, who holds about 13 per cent of Vantel's stock, confirmed that negotiations are going ahead "on a portion of my holdings." He did not say how much. Any agreement reached must win approval of the board of broadcast governors.

Taylor, Pearson and Carson operates companies in the automotive and radio whole sale field and has interests in radio and television stations in Alberta.

A former newspaper photographer, Mr. Jones headed a group of city businessmen who formed Vantel about a year ago and were awarded a licence to operate the first private TV station in this area. Channel 8 went on the air last October.

JULIAN HUXLEY:

'Monstrous Law' On Birth Control

TORONTO (CP)—Sir Julian Huxley, outspoken British biologist and author, says the population explosion is the world's greatest problem and "it is wicked and immoral to stand in the way of natural birth control."

Sir Julian, in Toronto to attend the Canadian Conference of the Arts, was commenting Tuesday on the recent conviction of Toronto businessman Harold Fine on charges of advertising and keeping contraceptives for sale. This, said Sir Julian in an interview, was "amazing," "astonishing" and "most unusual in a modern society."

He talked about the "absolutely monstrous law" under which Fine was convicted and suggested that Canada might learn something from India and Pakistan where, in certain areas, a father of four children can be sterilized at his own request at the expense of the state.

Damages Assessed Against Union

WINNIPEG (CP)—Damages of $3,000 have been awarded against a Winnipeg union and some of its members for conspiracy to injure a supermarket by means of a secondary boycott.

Mr. Justice A. M. Monnin in Court of Queen's Bench Tuesday gave the award to Amadee Dussessoy, president of Dussessoy's IGA supermarket in the neighboring city of St. James, for loss of business caused by picketing of his premises by strikers from another company.

Vancouver Man Nabbed by FBI

SEATTLE (CP) — Alan David McNair, 31, sought by Vancouver police in connection with the theft of $40,500 from an importing firm once operated by his father, was arrested in New York Wednesday, the FBI here said.

McNair was taken into custody by special agents at Idlewild Airport immediately upon his arrival from France.

Defends Skeet Title

MONTREAL (CP) — Barney Hartman of Ottawa will defend his Canadian skeet shooting title against a top field of North American marksmen when the Canadian and Quebec skeet championships open Friday at nearby St. Janvier. Hartman has held the Canadian skeet crown since it was put in competition five years ago.

He was arrested on a complaint filed by the Seattle FBI office April 14, which charged him with violation of the interstate transportation of stolen property statute.

The charge said that in March McNair transported in interstate and foreign commerce from Vancouver through Seattle to San Francisco and other places securities and monies of value in excess of $5,000, knowing the same to be stolen.

After leaving Vancouver about March 26, McNair travelled in Canada, the United States, England, France, Italy, Germany, Brazil and Hong Kong, the FBI said.

McNair will be arraigned today before the U.S. commissioner at Brooklyn, N.Y.

The FBI said should McNair be convicted of the federal violation he could receive a 10-year prison sentence or a $10,000 fine or both.

BUS DEPOT ON SCHEDULE

Construction crews are up to schedule on building new $120,000 bus depot on south end of Empress Hotel parking lot. Work started in early March and the contractor, Farmer Construction Ltd., expects to finish June 1. Twenty men, including sub-contractors, are at present working on two-storey project. In addition, new parking space will give room for 42 cars adjoining existing Empress parking lot to the north. Cost of new parking area is $8,000. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

HERE AND THERE ... With NORMAN CRIBBENS

A disgruntled office worker wanted to snub his employer with a reproachful but dignified letter of resignation. He spoiled the effect by writing:

"I am so misatisfied I have decided to exterminate my employment here immediately."

That, said Miss Marion Angus, in a talk to students at S. J. Willis Junior High School, is why the study of words and their meanings is the most important study of all.

As further examples, she mentioned the student who wrote that a gladiator is a kind of alligator—but smaller; and the junior typist who when told to mind her punctuation replied:

"Why? I'm always on time in the morning."

"The human being is said to be equipped with 12 billion brain cells," Dr. Hugh Keenleyside told Victoria Canadian Club Wednesday. "Surely this is humanity's greatest example of persistent unemployment."

Dr. Keenleyside had another scintillating thought. He suggested sport might be a major factor in breaking down prejudice between French and English-speaking Canadians.

"We may criticize each other culturally," he said, "but no English Canadian can scorn The Canadiens hockey team and no Quebecois can feel superior to the oarsmen from UBC."

At the Legislative Buildings 70 travel-minded civil servants are counting the days to May 14.

They've chartered a plane for a flight to England and will spend about four weeks visiting relatives in the Old Country.

"We still have a few seats left," says flight organizer Larry Prowd. "We organized a trip like this last year and it was so successful some of our workers want to go again."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Condition of a baby poisoned Wednesday by the deadly panther agaric mushroom was "very slightly improved" at Royal Jubilee Hospital today. It was the first report of illness due to the often fatal fungus which appeared in quantity for the first time in this area this year.

Rodney Walters, 18 months, son of Daniel Walters, 547 Wentworth, Melchior, was rushed to the hospital poison centre in a coma after taking two, or three bites from the mushroom.

The Victoria Boys' Band, under direction of Reg Wood, will give the first concert of the season in Beacon Hill bandshell on Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Assisting will be the Vic Van Isle accordion band directed by George Fairfield.

Jessie Martin, 44, of 3855 Saanich, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with a neck injury after a two-car crash at Cook and Empress at 7:45 a.m. today.

She was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Gordon E. Martin, which was in collision with an auto driven by William R. White, 1424 Edgeware, police reported.

A thief who forced open a soap dispenser made a clean break with $150 cash at a coin-operated laundry, Quadra at Kings, Wednesday night. Police said a coin changer was tampered with but not opened.

Victoria branch of St. John Ambulance will hold its 18th annual field day at Central Junior High School on Saturday. Junior competitions start at 10 a.m.; senior events at 1:30 p.m.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Lions Club: Noon, Empress Hotel. Dr. George M. Woodward, "Cardiac Investigation."

First of two "Art-in-Travel" lectures scheduled for Art Gallery of Greater Victoria will be held Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. Mrs. P. S. Widdup, a member of the gallery directorate, will give an illustrated talk "Journey Round the World," featuring art monuments and travel scenes in Africa, India and the Far East.

Prior to setting in Victoria in 1955, Mrs. Widdup lived in the Philippines and Shanghai, China. She is a painter and has travelled around the world six times.

They are Richmond District High School Band, from Richmond, B.C., conducted by A. W. Horrocks, and the Belmont High School Band, conducted by D. R. Kerley.

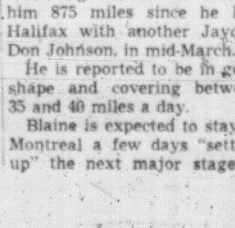

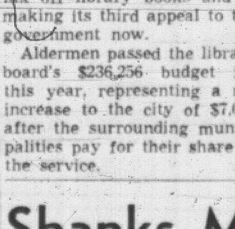

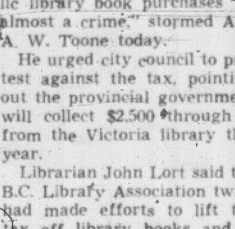

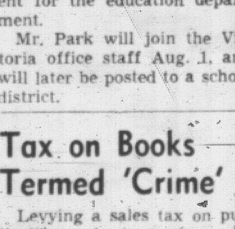

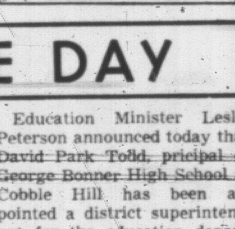

Members of the two bands will visit the Legislative Buildings and provincial museum Saturday morning and swim in the Crystal Garden in the afternoon.

Retired Members Group of the St. John Ambulance Brigade will meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Eleanor Destrube, 5237 Santa Clara Avenue, Elk Lake.

Films of Vancouver Island will be featured at a meeting of Colwood PTA in Colwood Elementary School on Monday at 8 p.m.

Election of officers will take place at the next regular meeting of St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society in Holyrood House, Thursday at 8 p.m.

Lieutenant Governor G. R. Pearkes will open a new $40,000 building for disturbed children at Sevenoaks Children's Centre on Blenkinsop Road. The ceremony will be held on May 16, starting at 2:30 p.m.

Sunset Lodge Construction To Low Bidder

Contract for the building of Matson Sunset Lodge will go to the Victoria firm of Farmer Construction Ltd., which submitted a tender of $750,241.

Announcement of the contract was made today by W. R. McIntyre, chairman of the Salvation Army Board responsible for the project.

The tender, one of seven submitted by Victoria and Vancouver firms in open bidding, was the lowest "by several thousand dollars," Mr. McIntyre reported.

Architect John Wade, of the firm of Wade, Stockhill and Armour, said work will begin on the Dunsmuir Avenue site next week, and that the completion date is March, 1962.

TWO STOREYS

The two-storey reinforced concrete structure will have 120 rooms for single persons and 10 suites for married couples, plus a laundry, infirmary, adequate storage facilities, and offices.

To add to the pleasant living for residents there will be a spacious dining room, reading and television lounges, handicraft facilities, a library and chapel.

One of the outstanding features will be a curved ramp leading to the second floor. In addition to eliminating stairs, it will give on one side a view of the main lounge, and on the other—through full length windows—a spectacular view over West Bay and Victoria Harbor.

MAIN PATIO

Main patio is outside the lounge and overlooking the water.

There are other recreational areas in protected spots outside the building, which was designed in a modified X-shape to provide the maximum screening from the prevailing winds.

Sum of $900,000 budgeted for the project is allotted as follows: building, $750,000; value of property, $60,000; roads and services, $17,000; furnishings and equipment, $73,000.

FUND APPEAL

Helping to meet this charge will be available bequests of $175,000; government assistance, $300,000; a mortgage, $225,000; and $200,000 from the building fund appeal being conducted right now in conjunction with the Salvation Army's annual Red Shield campaign to raise $45,000 for its essential services here.

Appeal opened May 1, and will continue until May 31.

Tax on Books Termed 'Crime'

Levying a sales tax on public library book purchases "is almost a crime," stormed Ald. A. W. Toome today.

He urged city council to protest against the tax, pointing out the provincial government will collect $2,500 through it from the Victoria library this year.

Librarian John Lort said the B.C. Library Association twice had made efforts to lift the tax off library books and is making its third appeal to the government now.

Aldermen passed the library board's $236,256 budget for this year, representing a net increase to the city of $7,000 after the surrounding municipalities pay for their share of the service.

Shanks Mare Jaycee Makes Montreal

Victoria Jaycee Blaine Tringham marched into Montreal on Wednesday afternoon to complete a little more than one-fifth of his coast-to-coast hike.

His legs have now carried him 875 miles since he left Halifax with another Jaycee, Don Johnson, in mid-March.

He is reported to be in good shape and covering between 35 and 40 miles a day. Blaine is expected to stay in Montreal a few days "setting up" the next major stage in his 4,000 mile walk. Don, who was forced to drop out of the walk because of leg trouble, reports that his leg is improving gradually and says he is walking the last few miles each day with Blaine.

The two have now covered nearly three provinces in their "bird walk." They expect to reach Ontario next week. While Blaine walks with a placard "Follow the birds to Victoria," slung over his shoulders, Don arranges accommodation and publicity.

Suit Against CPR Follows Train Accident

Woman Tripped Over Suitcase

A Victoria woman, Mrs. Elsie M. Winter of 1149 Hollis Road, today sued the Canadian Pacific Railway for injuries sustained when she fell over a travelling bag in the corridor of a CPR train.

The case is being heard in B.C. Supreme Court here.

P. J. Sinnott, counsel for Mrs. Winter, said she was returning to Vancouver from a trip to Winnipeg on Sept. 1, 1960. As the train approached Medicine Hat, Alta., Mrs. Winter tripped over a bag lying in the corridor and fell heavily.

She suffered a "whiplash" injury, involving straining of the tendons, and was carried off the train at Medicine Hat and taken to hospital for treatment.

Mr. Sinnott said Mrs. Winter contracted a severe chill on the station platform and this aggravated her condition in hospital.

He claimed that a CPR employee had been negligent and careless by leaving the travelling bag outside one of the roomettes in the corridor.

He asked for general damages for pain and suffering caused to Mrs. Winter by the accident, and for special damages amounting to $375 for medical expenses and damage to her clothing.

Medical evidence was being called when the case resumed this afternoon.

A. G. Harvey of Vancouver is appearing as defence counsel for the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Fraud Sleuth Appointed For Province

Former head of the Vancouver police department's criminal investigation squad, Archie Plummer has been appointed to a new post of provincial fraud investigator.

He started his new duties this week, and will work from the attorney-general's department in the legislative buildings.

Mr. Plummer will receive $550 monthly.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Wednesday the post was created after "a variety of matters needing investigation came to our attention."

FULL-TIME

He said his department already employs two full-time investigators and can call on other investigators when needed.

A department spokesman said Mr. Plummer will investigate real estate frauds and reported cheatings in insurance and securities.

He did not elaborate.

Mr. Plummer will work with all branches of the department and aid any police who might be engaged.

High Court Trial In Alleged Fraud

A Victoria real estate dealer has been committed for trial on a charge of defrauding a Victoria woman of $10,950.

John Blair, of John Blair Ltd., 620 View, was committed today in city police court by Magistrate William Ostler who found there was sufficient evidence that Blair had used a newspaper advertisement to interest the woman and her husband in purchase of a first mortgage in April, 1960, with intent to defraud.

The court was told that Blair had received $12,000 from Mrs. Ethel Oxland, 155 Linden, for purchase of the mortgage on International Anti-Radiation Ltd. property near Nanaimo.

It is alleged that Blair knew at the time, the mortgage was not a first mortgage but a "promise on proof of title."

City prosecutor Angus Smith said the International Anti-Radiation Co. Ltd. did not have the title at the time but it was held by a Nanaimo realty firm.

Mr. Smith also said Blair was a director of the IARC and must have known the title was not clear.

Both Mrs. Oxland and her husband, Thomas, said the $12,000 was delivered personally to Blair April 14, 1960, and he gave them a book of signed cheques.

These were to repay the principal, plus interest, at the rate of $175 per month.

The difference between $12,000 and the $10,950 mentioned in the charge was made up of payments made by Blair to Mrs. Oxland.

Garden Tours Under Way Despite Rain

Garden lovers from England, Ontario, Manitoba, Washington, Nevada and California braved the rain to enjoy Victoria's choice spring flowers today.

Many signed up this morning for tours of 18 private gardens thrown open to visitors during Victoria's annual Spring Garden Festival.

"Rain or shine they are still coming," said a festival official booking bus tours in the waiting room behind C and C Taxi, 906 Government.

The bus tours, leaving C and C at 1 p.m. daily, will continue until Saturday, but many visitors are touring the gardens in their own cars.

Early arrivals were flower lovers Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McGuire of Seattle who have attended the festival many times since their first visit in 1939.

"At home we specialize in wall flowers," said Mr. McGuire, who is vice-president of the National Bank of Commerce of Seattle. "But we cannot compete with the lovely specimens which flourish in Victoria."

"The flowers here have to be seen to be believed," said Miss Eula Swovens from Nevada.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, MAY 4, 1961—PAGE 17

Indian Liquor Policy Defended by Minister

Bonner Seeks Change In Type of Plebiscite

Citizenship Minister Ellen Fairclough today indicated there will be no change in present federal laws concerning liquor rights for Indians, despite a B.C. request.

This immediately drew charges from B.C. Attorney General Robert Bonner that the federal government was guilty of "sham and hypocrisy."

Mrs. Fairclough told a press conference here that Indians should be allowed liquor rights after plebiscites were held in each band, as laid down in the Indian Act.

She said some 40 B.C. applications for votes had been received and the first 10 passed on to Mr. Bonner for action.

If there is no action in 60 days, she said, the federal government can hold the plebiscites itself. "This is what we propose to do," she said.

ENFORCEMENT

B.C. says it would be virtually impossible to enforce its Liquor Act under this procedure as members of 204 Indian bands are scattered through 1,629 reservations in B.C. Other provinces do not have so many bands or reservations, and their reserves are much larger units.

Under the B.C. Liquor Act any person who is prohibited under the federal Indian Act from purchasing liquor is not allowed in a government liquor store.

Mr. Bonner said he had written to Mrs. Fairclough urging a change in the Indian Act to allow plebiscites in licensing areas. This would take the onus off government liquor store operators from deciding which Indians on a reserve were members of a band entitled to purchase liquor.

Mrs. Fairclough stuck to the present act, which she said had worked very well in other provinces.

"I think the Indians should say how the Indian Act is to be administered," she said. As to enforcement under the present system: "I can't see any difficulty there."

She added: "I don't know what the reason is the provincial government of B.C. holds back."

SAME TREATMENT

She did, however, say that Indians should be treated "exactly the same as non-Indians."

Mr. Bonner replied: "I think the federal minister has regrettably no understanding of the problem."

Mr. Bonner said the entire federal Indian policy has been "an abysmal failure."

"Nowhere is this more applicable than in the problem of liquor rights," he added.

Mrs. Fairclough this morning visited the farm of Swedish immigrant Nels Granewall, 5630 Alderley. This afternoon she was to attend a reception in St. Luke's Church Hall, on behalf of George Chatterton, the Conservative candidate in the Esquimalt-Saanich by-election.

DARTING DEER ROAD HAZARD IN SAANICH

Motorists in North Saanich are killing nearly as many deer as hunters.

Sidney RCMP were called out late Wednesday to shoot a doe which had both hind legs shattered in collision with a car on Wains Cross Road.

In the Sidney-Swartz Bay area deer darting suddenly from roadside brush and grass into the paths of cars are becoming a general hazard and motorists should take care, particularly at night, police warn.

Since hunting season last fall, about six deer have been run down by cars in North Saanich.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Could you please tell me the meaning of the word "vladi" in the Russian language? According to recent news reports the meaning of the word "vostok" is "east," and I would like to know the meaning of the whole word Vladivostok.—F.B.

A. Vladivostok is a composite word, made up of "Vladimir" and "vostok." The latter word, as you said, means east. Vladimir was a well-known statesman and religious leader in early Russian history. He was prince of Kiev in the 11th century. Vladivostok was named partly in his honor, but also partly due to the fact that the small port and trading post that was there before the establishment of the site as a city in 1862, was merely designated by the letter "V." It was therefore felt that some permanent name should be given that began with this letter.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along. The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor, Questions and Answers, will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. No still attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

These Birds Add Glamor To Floral Arrangements

By PENNY SAVER

Now that flowers are plentiful why not give Mother a gift that she can use with flower arrangements, whether they're in a tall vase or in a low bowl? She'll love the realistic life-size birds that are made of cotton batting and are light as the proverbial feather!

My favorite is the cheery sparrow that's busy preening himself. In the 12 varieties available you'll also find ruddy-breasted robins and delicately-colored finches.

Perched on a stock or stem or on the rim of a low bowl, they add a delightful touch to any arrangement. Birds are priced at $1.

If Mum is inclined to be a "book worm" get her a handy bookmark for Mother's Day. These are priced at 75 cents—low enough in cost for the smallest youngster to afford.

Bookmarks come from Denmark, and are made of teakwood and leather. There are tiny mice with colored rhinestone eyes. Their long tails are the markers. As an alternative, you can get wise-looking owls.

For her dessert parties or dinner entertaining, you could get Mum a package of Danish place mats. These are made of a heavy treated paper that can be wiped over several times.

Measuring 16 inches by 12 inches, they look like linen and have an intriguing design that features birdcages, each with a colorful occupant, and nosegays of wild flowers. Sets sell at $1 for package of eight place mats.

Paper place mats that look like white lace are available at 98 cents for package containing 32. These measure 10 inches by 14 inches.

WHY GROW OLD?

You'll Get Personal Profit From This Kind of Painting

Lowman

So many women today take up painting as a hobby. This is most rewarding because it satisfies the creative urge, and love of color is practically universal. And it amazes me how many of my friends can paint really well.

If this hobby appeals to you, it is well worth trying. You may be surprised by how well you can do and by how rapidly you will improve.

Actually, this spring there is another kind of painting which you might indulge in, too.

Never before has make-up been such an art or has there been such a great variety of such lovely shades to choose from and experiment with. Women who never wore eye make-up, before wear it now.

Those who used mascara but not a liner or eye-shadow, now use all three. It has gotten so that eyes which are not made up make us look unusual.

One company has packaged two slim cylinders, each containing four different shades of eye shadow. In this way, at a very nominal cost, you can experiment to see which colors are most flattering and which colors go best with your spring clothes. This is really fun!

DEAR ABBY

Food for Thought!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I had an experience the other day which greatly disturbed me. While sitting in my car eating my lunch, a little girl (about four years old) came up to my car and asked me to take her for a ride. You can well imagine what tragedy could have resulted had she approached the wrong type of man. When will parents realize that they must train their children not to speak to strangers, and even to run away if approached? Many little ones would be alive today or spared a terrible experience had they been so trained.

GORDON Y. DEAR GORDON: Most parents do train their children never to talk to strangers, and certainly not to go for "rides" with them. But because some parents may need to be reminded again, I will print your very worthy letter. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my deceased mother-in-law.

When my husband was in Germany for a year, he bought a complete dinner set. It cost almost $100. He gave it to his mother, not thinking of the sweetheart he would meet one day.

Then he met me. I was invited to his home for dinner many times. His mother would never use that dinner set. I always thought she was saving it for me, because I mentioned how much I liked it.

When I married, she still didn't give it to me. Now she is dead and the dinner set is in the home of my husband's sister. I don't know how she got it, but it is there. I think that since it was bought with my husband's money, I should have the set. How can I get it without appearing grasping?

NOT GRASPING. DEAR NOT: If you are "Not Grasping," I don't know how better to describe your attitude. Your husband bought this set for his mother. Had she wanted you to have it, she would have given it to you, or made provisions for your having it eventually. Quit coveting, and use your energies for more important things.

DEAR ABBY: I am an Alaskan girl who just read your book, Dear Teen-Ager. Several of my friends have borrowed it and we have all enjoyed it very much. You have such a witty way of setting advice for "teens" on paper.

In your chapter, "How Late Is Late," I was glad you didn't say "be in before dark" because in Alaska "dark" is 3 p.m. during the winter months and 3 a.m. in the summer.

Sincerely, ALASKA LASS.

Algerian Crisis Stalls Victoria Tennis Player in Crowded Paris Subway; Bombs Feared

This summer Sue Butt, of Victoria, top-ranked Canadian women's singles tennis player, is competing in European tournaments. Between the games she is writing her impressions of cities she visits. These will appear in the Times.

By SUSAN BUTT

PARIS—Losing early in the Paris tennis championships, I set out to see the city. Here are my impressions:

Police men are everywhere. In metro stations, in front of stores, on street corners and even in the Stade Roland Garros where the tennis tournament was played; they stand in clusters. Reason is the brewing Algerian crisis which could flare up in Paris any time. Already bombs have been planted around the city and one exploded today in a train station killing a man and injuring 10 others.

We feel we are taking a risk every time we step on a subway. And we did have an adventure when riding one today.

Office of Trans-Canada Air Lines was destination of Eleanor Dodge of Montreal and me. We were warned by some Parisians that a transportation strike was due at 5 o'clock. But we could hardly believe it when the subway stopped dead at exactly five, stranding its hundreds of passengers—and us.

Same thing was happening all over Paris as trains, buses and the metropolitan stopped dead at the stroke of five.

Many riders in our crowded train made their way to the conductor to argue heatedly that it was only 10 minutes to five. But their efforts were in vain. It was 5 o'clock and the complex transportation systems of great Paris stood still.

Traffic snarled in the streets above. The usually crowded Champs Elysees teamed with office workers, tourists and thousands of subway riders who emerged onto the pavements like armies of ants.

We bought a paper and saw that the strike, which was organized to show opposition to the Algerian proceedings and the impending civil war, would only last an hour.

BLOATED METRO

At six we again descended into the Metro. The long corridors were packed with people. We moved by inches.

Thought of a bomb in there was enough to make one panic. (Public telephone booths and cloak rooms have been closed all over the city as a precaution against bomb planters.)

Crowd in the corridors was nothing compared to the squeeze in the subway cars which were already bloated with the previous hours' piled up traffic.

Tension is evident throughout Paris and many believe civil war to be imminent.

Such feelings were expressed by Bruno, a young Parisian, who showed me Paris one evening.

Bruno said that he, like most of the young men of Paris, were on military call. In case of civil war they would have to take up arms in support of General de Gaulle, against their own countrymen.

Beneath the Algerian crisis, which is on every tongue in every section of Paris, the lights of the city continue to shine and her art to delight.

Lights of Paris centre around her night clubs. The "big three," Maxim's, The Lido and The Folies Bergere, offer everything from trained horse acts, to ice skating to strip tease in their elaborate floor shows—at about $15 a head.

When a group of tennis players embarked on a tour of Paris' night life, however, they chose the second-class places. (Believe me, they were second class!)

LEWD SHOWS

Saying goes, "You can see anything and everything in Paris." Due to new morality laws passed six months ago, though, you have to pay for it.

Cab drivers and performers face heavy fines and imprisonment for any participation in the presentation of lewd night club shows. "Exhibitions" now cost about $40.

Night life of Paris also includes her prostitutes, who really do lean against lamp posts or buildings or stand in doorways. Streets in the "red light district" are marked every few feet by women of all ages in all shapes and sizes, plying the oldest profession of the world.

Art in Paris ranges from the priceless works of masters in the Louvre to the rough pastel sketches of Bohemians on the sidewalk pavements.

After spending a day in the Louvre, I emerged satiated with art for the price of one franc (about 20 cents). I viewed with enthusiasm the Mona Lisa, Venus de Milo, Victoire de Samothrace and many others. The hours passed. I began to tire. The guide books are right. The Louvre cannot be covered in a day.

Second centre of art is the Opera House which presents a varied nightly program. I am looking forward to seeing my favorite opera, Rigoletto, performed there this evening.

Third is the Latin Quarter or university district along the left bank of the Seine River. Here one finds the Sorbonne, young writers feverently at work and the famed book vendors who sell everything that is in print.

My impression of Paris is a city of great splendor and great paths. It is full of chauffeured Rolls Royces, well dressed men and women, fine restaurants, beautiful flowers and luxurious apartments.

But I have also seen more drunks lying in gutters, more crazy people lurking along the streets babbling to themselves and more beggars here than in any other city.

My ears are still full of the strains of "Yellow Polka Dot Bikini" which I heard filling a subway corridor today.

The accordionist was a crippled blind man who played to the feet of the mob which hurried by.

Several guests travelled from Victoria to attend the wedding of Miss Ruth Primrose Solly to Mr. Michael Holman in All Saints Church at Westholme, V.I. They were the Misses Primrose Wells, M. St. John, Dorothy Lucas, Mary Walter and H. M. Anderson. Other out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holman, Mr. Bill Holliday and Mr. Jim Thompson, all of Kamloops; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Robson of North Vancouver, and Mrs. T. L. Hipp, Mrs. Ivan Brown, Miss Phyllis Hipp, Miss Laverne Stables and Joyce Buchanan, all of Vancouver.

Driving Back

Sgt. H. R. Hayes, RCAF, and Mrs. Hayes with their six-month-old daughter, Tami, are now motoring across Canada after disembarking from the Empress of Canada in Montreal. The young family were on the maiden voyage of the new liner after having spent the past four years in Nottingham, Eng., where Sgt. Hayes was posted at the Langer air base. They are expected to arrive in Victoria on May 21 en route to Comox where Sgt. Hayes will be stationed with the RCAF. While in the city, the family will visit with Mrs. Hayes' parents, Maj. E. P. Roberts and Mrs. Roberts, in their Ernest Avenue home, and Sgt. Hayes' mother, Mrs. W. Hayes, Wenman Drive.

Bluebells and stocks in a silver bowl, flanked by blue candles in silver candelabra, were on the head table. Individual tables were centred with nosegays of lily of the valley and London Pride.

General conveners were Mrs. W. A. McPhee and receiving guests were Mrs. A. Dance, Mrs. C. Hull, Mrs. E. Tovey, Mrs. R. Clarke, Mrs. J. Sparrow, Mrs. C. Douglas and Mrs. J. Lunson, matrons of the seven chapters who organized the tea.

On the refreshment committee were Mrs. M. Hiquet, Mrs. H. Hogg, Mrs. M. Adams, Mrs. M. Rawlings, Mrs. M. Birnie, Mrs. D. Ferris, Mrs. E. B. Asdown, Mrs. F. Hourston, Mrs. O. Prescott, Mrs. N. Woodley, Mrs. M. Stanley and Mrs. W. Ockenden.

Other conveners were: Concessions, Mrs. Hourston, Mrs. L. Brennen and Mrs. C. Pell; decorating, Mrs. V. Sargent and Mrs. F. Longland; miscellaneous, Mrs. M. Brown, Mrs. E. Hampton, Mrs. W. Richardson and Mrs. H. Wolfe; door receipts, Mrs. E. McLagan and Miss E. Brown; and home cooking, Mrs. M. Davey, Mrs. M. Sargent, Mrs. E. Reston, Mrs. D. Bayley, Mrs. A. Kerfidge and Mrs. E. LeDain.

Serving tea were Mrs. M. Fair, Mrs. M. Rutherford, Mrs. E. Eastwood, Mrs. E. Harris, Mrs. J. Ferguson, Mrs. D. Perrins, Mrs. E. Pickering, Mrs. E. Adams, Mrs. J. Reid, Mrs. M. Mackie and Mrs. M. Parker.

Spring Tea For Orphan

Proceeds from the Ex-WRCNS annual spring tea to be held in the Hudson's Bay Douglas Room on Saturday, May 6, from 2:15 to 4:30 p.m. will be used for the group's adopted Korean boy, Tae-Ku-Chun. There will be a home baking table in charge of Mrs. T. C. Plume and Miss Muriel Beere, and the president of the group, Mrs. L. T. Martin, will act as hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Forrest, 1215 Hillside Avenue, wish to announce the engagement of Mrs. Forrest's daughter, Barbara Joan Richardson, to Mr. Thomas Edward Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Harrison, 298 Beach Drive. The wedding will take place in First Baptist Church on Saturday, June 3, at 7:30 p.m., with Rev. C. R. Easter and Rev. C. Barner officiating. Attendants will be Mrs. R. Stinson and Miss Paty Noon. Mr. Richard Willis will be best man. (Photo by Campbell Studio.)

Buffet Dinner Before Dance

Miss Catharine Shore will entertain at a buffet dinner in the Fort Street home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Shore, prior to attending the graduation dance at St. Margaret's School this Saturday. Invited are the Misses Sandra Noble, Frances Nicolls, Pamela Paver, Anthea Fisk and Jean Dunbar, all members of the graduation class, and Mr. John Dixon, Mr. Bruce Arnett, Mr. Gordon Eekmah, Mr. John Melkie, Mr. Daryl Paver and Mr. Richard Grubb. Miss Paver will entertain with vocal selections before dinner.

Westholme Church the Setting For Holman-Solly Wedding Vows

Strains of "Holy, Holy, Holy" greeted Miss Ruth Primrose Solly as she entered All Saints' Church at Westholme, V.I., for her marriage to Michael Holman. She wore a soft moss green dressmaker suit with a matching leather hat and dark brown accessories. Her corsage was yellow rosebuds.

Rev. T. L. Hipp came from Vancouver to officiate at the morning ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Solly, of Westholme, and Mrs. Grace Holman, of Kamloops, and the late Mr. D. B. Holman. Mr. Solly gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Grace Solly was maid of honor for her sister. She chose a hat and gown in shades of old rose and complemented her ensemble with bone-colored accessories. Pink rosebuds and carnations were in her corsage.

Arthur Holman was best man for his brother and ushering guests were Chris Robson, North Vancouver, and Bill Holliday, Kamloops.

Receiving the guests at a reception at "The Rock", home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother wore a navy dress and hat with pink chrysanthemum corsage. The mother of the groom chose a dark green wool dress, brown hat and corsage of yellow roses. Heather and magnolia blossoms topped the three-tier wedding cake that centred the bride's table. Arthur Holman proposed the toast.

The bride completed her wedding ensemble with a matching

Salt Spring Island Notes

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Jones of Sharp Road, Salt Spring Island, were honored on their 43rd wedding anniversary when Mr. and Mrs. Michael Jones entertained. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. Empey, Mr. and Mrs. K. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. F. Bonar and Mr. R. Vanderbilt.

Miss Jennifer Abraham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bradley, has returned to Salt Spring Island from University of British Columbia and will be with her parents for a month.

Mrs. F. Agnew has returned to her home at Vesuvius Bay after a five-week visit to Edmonton and Mrs. Douglas Wilson leaves next Tuesday for Goose Bay, Labrador, to visit

GUN FOUND IN ALTAR, CUBAN POLICE CLAIM

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The Fidel Castro government stepped up its campaign against the Roman Catholic Church today.

In the port city of Baracoa police searched a church and arrested its priest after they found a pistol and United States currency hidden in the altar, Havana Radio reported.

The broadcast said, "a large amount" of United States currency also was seized earlier during a search of a Catholic school in Baracoa. A staff member, Josefina Doche, was arrested.

In Santiago, the government nationalized more than 20 private and parochial schools, according to Havana Radio.

The priests and nuns who had operated the schools were reported ready to leave the country.

CANADA SHOULD TAKE LEAD—KEENLEYSIDE

Keep South Africa Readmission Open

Canada should take the initiative in proposing the readmission of South Africa to the British Commonwealth when the time comes, Dr. Hugh L. Keenleyside, chairman of the B.C. Power Commission and former delegate to the United Nations, said Wednesday.

"It will be a sad and unhappy day for all of us when South Africa leaves the Commonwealth to become a republic on May 31 next," he told a crowded meeting of the men's and Women's Canadian Clubs of Victoria.

But, he added, the way should be kept open for readmission "when those forces in South Africa that are working for human decency and active justice triumph at last—as triumph they will."

"Canada, as the senior dominion, should take the initiative and show forbearance, since it had never been faced with the problem the white settlers of South Africa had to meet."

"If we had been, our response might have been no better. Remember our record in dealing with our own Indians has many dark passages."

"Can we be really proud of our immigration policy, which maintains almost unscalable barriers against persons of color, even when they are citizens of Commonwealth nations?"

"Can we honestly suggest that our clubs and better residential areas are open on equal terms and without protest to all our people regardless of color, race and religious affiliation?"

He said it was the "illiterates" of both French and English-speaking Canada which most disparage and, in their ignorance, despise the culture of the other.

"Yet," he reflected, "we have come a long way. Our weaknesses and failures, our sins against our professions and ideals are fewer than they were. And as a people we are more widely concerned with the injustices and inequalities that still afflict us."

Dr. Keenleyside said "prejudices based on race and color have caused strife and conflict in Africa, Asia, Latin America, Jerusalem and parts of the United States."

Yet anthropologists and scientists agreed there is no such thing as a pure race and the various groupings into which mankind can be divided have "no significant continuing relationship to either intellectual or physical capacity."

"It is a sad reflection," he added, "that in recent generations, the peoples of so-called Christian nations have been responsible for the worst examples of racial and color prejudice."

Only 50 years ago the Russian peasant was regarded as degraded, foolish and beyond the reach of civilized thought.

"Yet tomorrow this peasant's grandson may be laughing at us from the moon. Or threatening us from Mars."

"Who would have imagined that the half-naked, superstitious, wood-stained savages who lurked in the forests of Germany and the swamps of Britain could ever be more than half-witted slaves to be slowly taught some of the more essential tasks required by civilized man—such as how to kill one's neighbor?"

Dr. Keenleyside said the British Commonwealth represented a progressive step forward in international affairs, and had been defined as "The Sermon on the Mount reduced to political terms."

"It is a thoroughly British institution; inconsistent in principle, but pretty successful in practice... and it still embodies most of our hopes for the future."

CITY BOARD MEMBER

Archie Wills, former city alderman, was appointed Tuesday as city council's representative on a three-man conciliation board which will attempt settlement of a wage and vacation dispute between City Hall and its "outside" staff.

Chessman's Prosecutor Wins Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Caryl Chessman's prosecutor has been awarded a $50,000 judgment in his $1,000,000 suit against makers of a film about the case.

After six hours of deliberation a jury voted that amount to Deputy District Attorney Miller Leavy. He charged that when he agreed to appear in the film, "Justice and Caryl Chessman," he was assured it was only a television documentary. Later, over his protest, it was shown commercially in theatres.

Leavy complained that people could have gained the impression his appearance had been for hire, whereas he wanted nothing for presenting the facts.

By TONY DICKASON

The term "tocsin" means a warning signal.

It will be sounded, via sirens, throughout Canada Friday.

Residents of Greater Victoria can expect to hear the wail from the area's 19 sirens for from three to five minutes around 8 a.m.

It is an eerie sound; but do not be alarmed.

The "alert" is part of "Operation Tocsin".

This is a national civil defence exercise in which CD personnel, active and reserve army units, and members of the Emergency Measures Organization will participate.

None of the general public is required to do anything.

The operation will last 10 hours.

BELLS TOLL

Mutual aid areas, such as Sooke and Metchesin, without CD sirens, will toll church or school bells, or utilize fire department sirens to mark start of the scheme.

It is the most important CD exercise of the year at the Canada-wide level, but it will be a mostly "paper" function.

In essence, aim of Tocsin is to practice emergency measures for national survival and to allow for continuation of government assuming there is anybody left to govern.

Also, to direct attention to any "gaps" in planning and preparation.

CABINET MEETS

Most of the provincial cabinet will be at provincial control headquarters in Nanaimo, including, perhaps, the premier. It is intended to hold a cabinet meeting there that day.

In the past, individual cabinet members have attended CD exercises, but this will be the first time they will be on hand, more or less "en bloc".

Nanaimo will be the hub, or nub, of provincial operations. There's a "bunker" at Keating Cross Road where members of the local CD group and 25 Militia Group personnel will gather.

They will liaise with the provincial command, which in turn will be close-to-heat with the federal situation.

RADIO TALK

At 8 a.m. Friday, Prime Minister Diefenbaker, on all Canadian radio stations, will talk concerning civil defence.

His subject will be information; to the public on emergency planning in the event of a national disaster.

Locally, Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace will speak, following the prime minister, and army area commander, Brig. J. W. Bishop Vancouver.

SITREP is not a new economic-support area: it's the code which will be used for "situation reports".

PROMOTION to rank of major will take place this month for Capt. R. S. Marshall, 2215 Millford, an officer in the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps. His present posting is with the directorate of military training at headquarters.

Paris has 3.7 constables per 1,000 inhabitants compared with Tokyo's 3.8 and London's 4.8.

CUBA 'FIASCO' SAYS PEARSON

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—The United States role in the abortive Cuban invasion was a mistake "almost to the point of being a fiasco", Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson said Wednesday in an interview.

He is here for a Liberal rally tonight.

The invasion failure "was based on miscalculation by American intelligence experts that the Cuban people would rise up to overthrow Fidel Castro," he said.

Trade Fair Business Brisk

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

VANCOUVER — Within an hour of its opening in Exhibition Park here Wednesday B.C.'s 2nd International Trade Fair was busily fulfilling its function as the largest market place for foreign and domestic goods ever seen in this province.

Even as the official party headed by Premier Bennett, along with other B.C. cabinet ministers, M.L.A.s, Vancouver civic officials and leading B.C. businessmen started on its tour of the fair after opening ceremonies at 2.30 p.m., the buying and selling was underway.

A construction company official was taking specifications on Japanese "deformed bar" steel and discussing prices and delivery times with a representative of the Japan Iron and Steel Exporters' Association.

A china store buyer was being shown the latest line of Czech cut glassware and stemware.

Contracts Signed
And everywhere in the four main exhibit buildings as the afternoon drew on deals were being made, orders taken, contracts signed and dealerships arranged.

There are 37 countries represented at this 10-day fair—17 by official government groups and 20 others by private businesses—and they have put on display about $30 million worth of goods.

At the first BCITF in 1958 there were the same number of countries privately represented but only 10 official government displays.

In addition to the thousands of merchandise buyers and industrial purchasing agents who will be drawn to the fair, it is expected that more than 200,000 members of the general public will attend.

Big Expenditure
It was mainly to the citizens at large of B.C. that Premier Bennett addressed his remarks at the opening ceremonies in the Garden Auditorium explaining the importance of the fair to the province and justifying the tremendous expenditure of time and money in providing a showcase for foreign traders.

"We live today in a trader's world," Mr. Bennett stated. "We must trade to prosper; we must trade to employ our people and expand our economy. And to do these things we must establish, not just here in British Columbia but in Canada as a whole, a climate in which trade can flourish and will flourish on a global basis."

"There may have been a time when extreme protectionism served our young economy," the premier said, "but that time has certainly passed... the goal of a balanced economy with unrestricted two-way trade was once a dream. Today it is a fundamental necessity."

In all of Canada no province has a greater stake in good trading relations, he said. In 1958 B.C.'s foreign trade was worth about $770 million dollars of which $500 million represented exports.

World Trade Up
Today the total value of B.C.'s world trade has risen to $1.4 billion dollars with about $958 million representing exports. B.C. is a world trader of importance far outstriking its relatively small population, he said.

Intruding politics and B.C. federal relations into his address for a brief moment, Mr. Bennett told his audience:

"We in British Columbia are rich in resources. We are now developing those resources, and the greatest of them are the energies—coal, natural gas, oil and especially hydro-electricity."

"To buy the goods and services we need, to enjoy the standard of living we desire," he asserted, "we must have the freedom to develop those resources and sell our surpluses in the markets of the world."

Bonner Praised
Tribute was paid by the premier to the organizers of the fair, the department of industrial development, trade and commerce and its minister, Trade and Industry Minister Robert W. Bonner, under whose sponsorship the fair is held, and to the large and active board of volunteers headed by Vancouver businessman W. J. Borrie for "their unselfish service to the province of B.C."

At a luncheon preceding the opening ceremonies, Mr. Borrie welcomed special guests to the fair including business groups, trade delegations from South Africa and Italy, and members of the consular corps in Canada including the senior member present, Italian Ambassador to Canada Carlo de Ferraris Salzano.

Mr. Borrie noted that there were over 250 trade fairs being staged all over the world in this year alone.

Variety of Goods
The BCITF, he believed, could best be described as a "vast pocket" edition of all these fairs in composite, with an astonishing variety of goods from all parts of the world.

Visitors to the fair can easily test the truth of Mr. Borrie's statement with a two or three-hour stroll through the exhibition buildings, starting at the automobile pavilion with its displays of fine foreign cars and ending up in the Lloyd's of London, where an astonishing replica of the original Lloyd's coffee house where the great insurance brokerage originated.

In between they will see a bewildering variety of goods. The Japanese are represented by no less than 80 export, import and manufacturing firms whose products cover almost the entire range of consumer goods and industrial products from cameras, toys, pleasure boats, transistor radios, cutlery and paper products to heavy diesel engines, fabricated steel, precision tools and pipe valves.

The United Kingdom exhibit is concentrated more in the consumer goods, lines for which Britain is well known in this country, fine woolsens and china, cutlery, sporting goods, leather goods and footwear.

One private U.K. exhibitor of more than normal interest to Vancouver Islanders is British Insulated Callender's Cables Ltd., fabricators of the 138,000-volt submarine cable which links the Island to the mainland, and the proposed 35-mile underwater flexible pipeline which will deliver 30 million cubic feet of natural gas daily from the mainland to Island homes and industry.

The Australians are represented by almost every product they hope to sell in world trade from foodstuffs to machinery, while the Republic of China, a new exhibitor, displays the handicrafts of old China which have been transferred to Formosa along with a selection of modern products of the island.

Traditional French exports are on display—perfumes, crystal, gourmet foods, textiles and wine.

A little detail has been changed since the French exhibited at the 1958 fair. The wine bottles are empty this time since the exhibitors learned by experience that full bottles were too great a temptation to the souvenir seekers.

POLICE STILL OPPOSED
Chamber President For Bobby Helmets

Police should wear "bobby" helmets for their own good, Chamber of Commerce president Aubrey Kent said Wednesday.

But police union president Const. Lorne Shandley said officers have not changed their opinions against the helmets.

Mr. Kent said present-day bobby helmets are much lighter and more comfortable than the ones worn by Victoria police up to 1948.

He said he could understand officers' aversion to wearing the headgear as a tourist promotion but the new helmets are comfortable and "afford a measure of protection" against blows to the head.

But one policeman maintained the helmets would reduce police efficiency in order to create a tourist attraction. "After all," he said, "the police department is a public safety force. The helmet tends to create a comic opera atmosphere and doesn't help in maintaining public respect."

Final Rites Saturday For Pioneer-Soldier

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning for Lieut. Col. James Chichester Harris, native Victorian and grandson of Sir James Douglas, who died suddenly Wednesday at his home, 902 Heywood. He was 80.

Born in 1881 in a two-storey home on the Douglas estate on Elliott Street, Colonel Harris was the last survivor of seven brothers and sisters, born there. His father was Dennis Reginald Harris, a civil engineer, and his mother was the youngest daughter of Sir James Douglas.

During his military career he rose from the ranks to command the old 5th B.C. Regiment, and was second in command of the 47th in New Westminster, mobilized in 1915.

He returned to service during the Second World War to command the 5th Regiment of the Royal Canadian Artillery (Reserve). Except for time spent overseas with the army, Colonel Harris lived his entire life in Victoria.

He spent some time in the sand and gravel business, owning a gravel pit at Albert Head. His company supplied some of the materials used in the construction of the Hudson's Bay Company building and the Empress Hotel.

Colonel Harris is survived by a niece, Mrs. John McAvity of Vancouver, and numerous cousins, members of pioneer families of early Victoria.

He will be buried with full military honors from the Church of Our Lord Saturday at 10 a.m.

Sports Scene Viewed In New Times Column

A new sports column is introduced to Times readers today.

The author is Times staffer Hal Malone. In his column he will range the wide wonderful world of sport from the national and international scene to the doings of local sports figures.

Hal is a veteran newsman of wide experience. Quite some years ago he was a sportswriter for a Vancouver metropolitan paper, later published and edited a weekly, then a daily.

In three years with the Times staff he has performed numerous duties, including a business column and an entertaining column on the annual horse-racing meet.

Today he returns to sports, and will air his views for Times readers three times weekly on the sports pages.

Reds Open Fire As Truce Talks Near

VIENTIANE (Reuters)

Gen. Phoumi Nosavan today claimed that pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces have ignored a cease-fire order broadcast by Pathet Lao radio and opened fire on government troops.

Phoumi, strongman defence minister and deputy premier in the pro-American government of Prince Boun Oum, said leftist rebels north of Luang Prabang "deliberately opened fire on our troops."

Earlier, the royal government accepted former premier Souvanna Phouma's invitation to peace talks Friday on the front north of here. Government acceptance of Souvanna's invitation left unsettled a major point: "The government has insisted on the field to draw up an armistice line and other details of the cease-fire before political leaders meet."

Nosavanna said he was insisting on this point.

OTTAWA (UPI)—The three international truce supervisory commissions are waiting instructions from Britain and the Soviet Union before moving into Laos, External Affairs Minister Howard Green said today.

The commission, which includes representatives from Canada, India and Poland, is in New Delhi.

FRANKFURT (AP)

West German police today held a Polish-born Canadian, who, they said, tried to shoot a German official over alleged racial persecution.

Police said they arrested Chaim Kuflik, 58, a businessman from Toronto, Wednesday after he attempted to shoot German judge Dr. Friedrich W. Kiessling with a pistol in the judge's office.

Dr. Kiessling suffered only minor injuries, police said.

Police said Kuflik, a Jew born in Poland, was involved in argument in a Frankfurt bar in January, 1960—shortly after the wave of anti-semitic incidents in Germany.

A heated argument started after a man said Hitler was the greatest German who had ever lived. Kuflik countered, with the statement, Hitler was the greatest criminal ever.

Kuflik went to the nearest police precinct and filed charges. There he was vilified and badly mistreated by four German police officers, Kuflik claimed.

Kuflik filed charges, also against the quartet but the state attorney did not prosecute due to lack of evidence.

A subsequent appeal to an administrative court was also without success and Kuflik was ordered to pay the costs of the investigation and subsequent appeal.

Dr. Kiessling was president of the court that squashed his appeal and ordered him to pay.

JOHANNESBURG (AP)

Defiant Negro leaders vowed today to press on with their plans for country-wide demonstrations against the new South African republic despite widespread raids by 1,000 police Wednesday.

Nelson Mandela, honorary secretary of the All in Africa National Council, called the raids "unwarranted interference" and said word was going around for all non-whites to redouble their efforts to make the demonstrations a success.

Mandela's organization has called for a three-day strike beginning May 29, two days before South Africa becomes a republic, and non-violent gatherings protesting the denial of political rights to the non-whites majority.

The aim is to bring industry and public services to a standstill and stir up public resentment against Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd's white supremacy government.

HAVE NO VOTE

South Africa's 9,000,000 non-whites are voteless and had no say in the referendum last year in which Verwoerd won a narrow endorsement in favor of a republic ending South Africa's previous allegiance to the Crown.

In the wake of Wednesday's wide police sweep mounting tension and anxiety were reported from Cape Town, Durban, Pretoria and areas around Johannesburg with large non-white populations.

The government insisted that the raids on homes and offices were only in furtherance of "investigation of various forms of crime and suspected crime." But the raiders concentrated on whites and non-whites known to be members of anti-government groups, and the apparent aim was to search out the detailed plans for the demonstrations at the end of the month.

The South African Press Association reported no political arrests were made, but said several persons were picked up for criminal offences.

Peter Brown, Liberal party national chairman, said the police raids were "a grim reminder of the days before and during last year's emergency"—the violence and bloodshed of March, 1960, that started with a police massacre of Negroes at Sharpsville.

DURBAN (Reuters)—Police raided nearby Cato Manor African Township again today while maintaining silence on their motives.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

O God and Father of us all, reveal to me Thy presence amid the tangled affairs of this day, that I may see Thy will for me and do it. O Lord, who hast given Thy life a ransom for many and hast numbered me among the redeemed, help me to forgive as I have been forgiven. Thou hast dispelled the dark cloud of my guilt and hast flooded my soul with the sunshine of Thy favor. Now I would place my hand in Thine and go all the way with Thee, Amen.

LABOR MINISTER STARR... awaits report

UIC Benefits To Marchers?

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Starr said today he has asked the Unemployment Insurance Commission to review its decision that unemployed workers who staged a march on Ottawa 10 days ago should be deprived of insurance benefits for the day.

Judy LaMarsh (L-Niagara Falls) asked for an assurance that they would be reinstated. Mr. Starr said he has asked the commission to study the Unemployment Insurance Act. He could not give the requested assurance until he received a report.

63 'Transplants' As Clusters Stay

City council today formally decided to keep all 740 cluster lights but "transplant" 63 of them to The Causeway and surrounding tourist district.

Cost of rehabilitating the standards, replacing existing supplementary lights on steel poles and the "transplant" operation will be $106,000—none of it to come from taxation.

Funds will be provided from the land sales tax fund which now stands at $108,000.

The compromise—strongly supported by Mayor Percy Scurrah—was proposed by street lighting chairman Ald. J. L. W. McLean who led the earlier effort to install modern mercury lighting downtown.

REPLACEMENTS

Ald. McLean said some 94 cluster lights, replaced by mercury units, would be taken from Johnson, between Blanshard and Quadra; Quadra, from Pandora to Fort; Yates, Government to Douglas; Fort, Douglas to Blanshard; and Government, Pandora to Herald.

Some of these would go into a reserve stock because the

China Wheat Deal Blasted in House

BY MAC Opposition Briefed On Spying

LONDON (Reuters)—Labor Opposition Leader Hugh Gaitskill today accepted an invitation from Prime Minister Macmillan for secret talks on the consequences of the conviction of a former British diplomat for spying.

LONDON (Reuters)—George Blake, former British diplomat convicted Wednesday of passing vital state secrets to the Russians, plans to appeal against his 12-year jail sentence. It was announced here today.

Macmillan told the House of Commons he was investigating whether further safeguards were needed to protect British security, but ruled out a specific inquiry.

Macmillan said he would disclose to Gaitskill the entire circumstances of the case and they could then discuss what was the best course to take in the public interest.

George Blake was sentenced to 12 years' imprisonment Wednesday after confessing he gave to Soviet agents every important paper he had access to between 1951 and 1959.

Macmillan admitted Blake "has done serious damage to the interests of this country."

Macmillan added: "I can assure members that Blake's disclosures will not have done irreparable damage."

In particular, he did not have access to secret information on defence, nuclear or atomic matters."

WAS PRISONER

Blake confessed that he passed secret information to the Russians after becoming a Communist in 1951 when he was in a North Korea internment camp.

Macmillan said of Blake's Korean imprisonment that he "no doubt underwent a certain amount of ill-treatment in common with others who were interned by the Communist Chinese."

But he was subject to none of the brainwashing which military prisoners suffered, Macmillan said.

50-50 CHANCE ASTRONAUT GOES FRIDAY

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—With a promise of favorable weather in the offing, a preliminary countdown began today, aimed at launching astronaut Alan Shepard into space at 8 a.m. EDT (5 a.m. PST) Friday.

A U.S. Space Agency spokesman said the weather has improved and "it now looks like a better than 50-50 chance of launching tomorrow."

He added, however, "we have no concrete assurances at this time that the weather will be perfect."

Today's countdown was to last five to seven hours and give most of the rocket's major system a complete check. The final countdown is scheduled to start at 1:30 a.m. EDT Friday.

ARRESTED

Wanted in Vancouver on theft charges involving $60,500 missing from his father's firm, Alan David McNair, 31, was arrested by the FBI Wednesday night at New York's Idlewild Airport as he stepped off a plane from Paris. (See story page 16.)

'One-Sided Agreement' Says Argue

OTTAWA (CP)—There's a "big joker" in Canada's $362,000,000 wheat deal with Red China, CCF Leader Hazen Argue said today in the Commons.

Canada has to provide wheat and barley for China but China doesn't have to buy it, he said in a speech arousing hoots and angry shouts from Progressive Conservative Prairie members.

"The most one-sided agreement I've ever seen," added Mr. Argue, who was away from the House when Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton announced the deal under which Red China would take 186,000,000 bushels of wheat and 46,000,000 bushels of barley over 2½ years.

Mr. Argue said the only firm commitment in the agreement is the contract to ship the first 28,000,000 bushels of wheat between June 1 and Nov. 30. After that, each contract must be negotiated for price and quantity, he said.

CANADA STOREHOUSE

What kind of a contract was that? Red China was not committed. But Canada was committed to a storehouse policy whereby she would have wheat and barley ready for China if it was bought.

"It's not what it was dressed up to be. I think the minister making the announcement (Mr. Hamilton) really was putting his public relations men to work because this has been blown up and exaggerated almost beyond all recognition."

Trade Minister Hees, asked by Mr. Argue to say just what the long-term agreement involved, referred to Mr. Hamilton's remarks Tuesday in which the agriculture minister said:

"I have made it clear that there is a long-term agreement. Under the agreement, one contract has been signed. Each future contract will be negotiated in respect to price and quantity."

George McIlraith (L-Ottawa) said Mr. Argue's charges are of a very serious nature and, if sustained, will be of major national importance.

CAN ONLY DISCUSS PRICE

Later in the debate, Mr. Hees said he has been advised that China has agreed to take the full quantity over the period. It left only the individual quantities and the prices within the over-all agreement to be negotiated.

Mr. Argue challenged him to produce the agreement itself to back this up.

Mr. Hees replied that such a challenge should be addressed to Mr. Hamilton.

Comment was unanimously full of praise, Mr. Argue said, but people seemed to have missed the point. China just was not committed to buying a bushel after the initial order of 28,000,000 bushels of wheat. "Sounds like sour grapes," jeered Jack H. Horner (PC—Acadia).

"The flimsiest kind of transaction," said Mr. Argue. The Second World War wheat deal with Britain had been much firmer. So was the recently divulged uranium deal with Britain—the controversial 12,000 tons to be delivered in 1963-1966.

"I'm against false publicity," said Mr. Argue. "I'm against what could turn out to be a hoax."

He urged Trade Minister Hees, whose departmental spending estimates were under study at the time, to say if Red China "must" or "may" buy the wheat and barley.

HOLD THE PHONE ON FRIDAY

Please do not telephone police, fire, newspapers, radio or TV stations when sirens start howling around 8 a.m. Friday. That is, unless there is legitimate reason for doing so.

The sirens will herald start of the national civil defence exercise Operation Tocsin, and unnecessary telephone calls could overload equipment to a point where emergency calls might be blocked.

Indian Liquor Policy Defended by Minister

Bonner Seeks Change In Type of Plebiscite

Citizenship Minister Ellen Fairclough today indicated there will be no change in present federal laws concerning liquor rights for Indians, despite a B.C. request.

This immediately drew charges from B.C. Attorney-General Robert Bonner that the federal government was guilty of "sham and hypocrisy."

Mrs. Fairclough told a press conference here that Indians should be allowed liquor rights after plebiscites were held in each band, as laid down in the Indian Act.

She said some 40 B.C. applications for votes had been received and the first 10 passed on to Mr. Bonner for action.

If there is no action in 60 days, she said, the federal government can hold the plebiscites itself. "This is what we propose to do," she said.

B.C. says it would be virtually impossible to enforce its Liquor Act under this procedure as members of 204 Indian bands are scattered through 1,828 reservations in B.C. Other provinces do not have so many bands or reservations, and their reserves are much larger units.

Under the B.C. Liquor Act any person who is prohibited under the federal Indian Act from purchasing liquor is not allowed in a government liquor store.

Mr. Bonner said he had written to Mrs. Fairclough urging a change in the Indian Act to allow plebiscites in licensing areas. This would take the onus off government liquor store operators from deciding which Indians on a reserve were members of a band entitled to purchase liquor.

Mrs. Fairclough stuck to the present act, which she said had worked very well in other provinces.

"I think the Indians should say how the Indian Act is to be administered," she said.

As to enforcement under the present system: "I can't see any difficulty there."

She added: "I don't know what the reason is in the provincial government of B.C. holds back."

Mr. Bonner said the entire federal Indian policy has been "an abysmal failure."

"Nowhere is this more applicable than in the problem of liquor rights," he added.

Mrs. Fairclough this morning visited the farm of Swedish immigrant Nels Granewall, 5630 Alderley. This afternoon she was to attend a reception in St. Luke's Church Hall, on behalf of George Chatterton, the Conservative candidate in the Esquimalt-Saanich by-election.

DARTING DEER ROAD HAZARD IN SAANICH

Motorists in North Saanich are killing nearly as many deer as hunters.

Sidney RCMP were called out late Wednesday to shoot a doe which had both hind legs shattered in collision with a car on Wains Cross Road.

In the Sidney-Swartz Bay area deer are suddenly from roadside brush and grass into the paths of cars are becoming a general hazard and motorists should take care, particularly at night, police warn.

Since hunting season last fall, about six deer have been run down by cars in North Saanich.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Could you please tell me the meaning of the word "vostok" in the Russian language? According to recent news reports the meaning of the word "vostok" is "east," and I would like to know the meaning of the whole word Vladivostok.—F.B.

A. Vladivostok is a composite word, made up of "Vladimir" and "vostok." The latter word, as you said, means east. Vladimir was a well-known statesman and religious leader in early Russian history. He was prince of Kiev in the 11th century. Vladivostok was named partly in his honor, but also partly due to the fact that the small port and trading post that was there before the establishment of the site as a city in 1862, was merely designated by the letter "V." It was therefore felt that some permanent name should be given that began with this letter.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Suit Against CPR Follows Train Accident

Woman Tripped Over Suitcase

A Victoria woman, Mrs. Elsie M. Winter of 1149 Hollis Road, today sued the Canadian Pacific Railway for injuries sustained when she fell over a travelling bag in the corridor of a CPR train.

The case is being heard in B.C. Supreme Court here.

P. J. Sinnott, counsel for Mrs. Winter, said she was returning to Vancouver from a trip to Winnipeg on Sept. 1, 1960. As the train approached Medicine Hat, Alta., Mrs. Winter tripped over a bag lying in the corridor and fell heavily.

She suffered a "whiplash" injury, involving straining of the tendons, and was carried off the train at Medicine Hat and taken to hospital for treatment.

Mr. Sinnott said Mrs. Winter contracted a severe chill on the station platform and this aggravated her condition in hospital.

He claimed that a CPR employee had been negligent and careless by leaving the travelling bag outside one of the roomettes in the corridor.

He asked for general damages for pain and suffering caused to Mrs. Winter by the accident, and for special damages amounting to $375 for medical expenses and damage to her clothing.

Medical evidence was being called when the case resumed this afternoon.

A. G. Harvey of Vancouver is appearing as defence counsel for the Canadian Pacific Railway.

ARCHIE PLUMMER

Fraud Sleuth Appointed For Province

Former head of the Vancouver police department's criminal investigation squad, Archie Plummer has been appointed to a new post of provincial fraud investigator.

He started his new duties this week, and will work from the attorney-general's department in the legislative building.

Mr. Plummer will receive $550 monthly.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Wednesday the post was created after "a variety of matters needing investigation came to our attention."

He said his department already employs two full-time investigators and can call on other investigators when needed.

A department spokesman said Mr. Plummer will investigate real estate frauds and reported cheatings in insurance and securities.

He did not elaborate.

Mr. Plummer will work with all branches of the department and aid any police who might be engaged.

High Court Trial In Alleged Fraud

A Victoria real estate dealer has been committed for trial on a charge of defrauding a Victoria woman of $10,950.

John Blair, of John Blair Ltd., 620 View, was committed today in city police court by Magistrate William Ostler who found there was sufficient evidence that Blair had used a newspaper advertisement to interest the woman and her husband in purchase of a first mortgage in April, 1960, with intent to defraud.

The court was told that Blair had received $12,000 from Mrs. Ethel Oxlund, 155 Linden, for purchase of the mortgage on International Anti-Radiation Ltd. property near Nanaimo.

It is alleged that Blair knew, at the time, the mortgage was not a first mortgage but a "promise on proof of title."

These were to repay the principal, plus interest, at the rate of $175 per month.

The difference between $12,000 and the $10,950 mentioned in the charge was made up of payments made by Blair to Mrs. Oxlund.

City prosecutor Angus Smith said the International Anti-Radiation Co. Ltd. did not have the title at the time but it was held by a Nanaimo realty firm.

Mr. Smith also said Blair was a director of the IARC and must have known the title was not clear.

Both Mrs. Oxlund and her husband, Thomas, said the $12,000 was delivered personally to Blair April 14, 1960, and he gave them a book of signed cheques.

These were to repay the principal, plus interest, at the rate of $175 per month.

The difference between $12,000 and the $10,950 mentioned in the charge was made up of payments made by Blair to Mrs. Oxlund.

Garden Tours Under Way Despite Rain

Garden lovers from England, Ontario, Manitoba, Washington, Nevada and California braved the rain to enjoy Victoria's choice spring flowers today.

Many signed up this morning for tours of 18 private gardens thrown open to visitors during Victoria's annual Spring Garden Festival.

"Rain or shine they are still coming," said a festival official booking bus tours in the waiting room behind C and C Taxi, 906 Government.

The bus tours, leaving C and C at 1 p.m. daily, will continue until Saturday, but many visitors are touring the gardens in their own cars.

Early arrivals were flower lovers Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McGuire of Seattle who have attended the festival many times since their first visit in 1939.

"At home we specialize in wall flowers," said Mr. McGuire, who is vice-president of the National Bank of Commerce of Seattle. "But we cannot compete with the lovely specimens which flourish in Victoria."

"The flowers here have to be seen to be believed," said Miss Eula Swovens from Nevada.

BUS DEPOT ON SCHEDULE

Construction crews are up to schedule on building new $120,000 bus depot on south end of Empress Hotel parking lot. Work started in early March and the contractor, Farmer Construction Ltd., expects to finish June 1. Twenty men, including sub-contractors, are at present working on two-storey project. In addition, new parking space will give room for 42 cars adjoining existing Empress parking lot to the north. Cost of new parking area is $8,000. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

... HERE AND THERE ...

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

A disgruntled office worker wanted to snub his employer with a reproachful but dignified letter of resignation. He spoiled the effect by writing:

"I am so missatisfied I have decided to exterminate my employment here immediately."

That, said Miss Marion Angus, in a talk to students at S. J. Willis Junior High School, is why the study of words and their meanings is the most important study of all.

As further examples, she mentioned the student who wrote that a gladiator is a kind of alligator—but smaller; and the junior typist who when told to mind her punctuation replied:

"Why? I'm always on time in the morning."

"The human being is said to be equipped with 12 billion brain-cells," Dr. Hugh Keenleyside told Victoria Canadian Club Wednesday. "Surely this is humanity's greatest example of persistent unemployment."

Dr. Keenleyside had another scintillating thought. He suggested sport might be a major factor in breaking down prejudice between French and English-speaking Canadians.

"We may criticize each other culturally," he said, "but no English Canadian can scorn The Canadiens hockey team and no Quebecois can feel superior to the oarsmen from UBC."

At the Legislative Buildings 70 travel-minded civil servants are counting the days to May 14.

They've chartered a plane for a flight to England and will spend about four weeks visiting relatives in the Old Country.

"We still have a few seats left," says flight organizer Larry Prowd. "We organized a trip like this last year and it was so successful some of our workers want to go again."

Sunset Lodge Construction To Low Bidder

Contract for the building of Matson Sunset Lodge will go to the Victoria firm of Farmer Construction Ltd., which submitted a tender of $750,241.

Announcement of the contract was made today by W. R. McIntyre, chairman of the Salvation Army Board responsible for the project.

The tender, one of seven submitted by Victoria and Vancouver firms in open bidding, was the lowest "by several thousand dollars," Mr. McIntyre reported.

Architect John Wade, of the firm of Wade, Stockhill, and Armour, said work will begin on the Dunsuir Avenue site next week, and that the completion date is March, 1962.

TWO STOREYS

The two-storey reinforced concrete structure will have 120 rooms for single persons and suites for married couples, plus a laundry, infirmary, adequate storage facilities, and offices.

To add to the pleasant living for residents there will be a spacious dining room, reading and television lounges, handicraft facilities, a library and chapel.

One of the outstanding features will be a curved ramp leading to the second floor. In addition to eliminating stairs, it will give on one side a view of the main lounge, and on the other—through full length windows—a spectacular view over West Bay and Victoria Harbor.

Main patio is outside the lounge and overlooking the water.

There are other recreational areas in protected spots outside the building, which was designed in a modified X-shape to provide the maximum screening from the prevailing winds.

Sum of $900,000 budgeted for the project is allotted as follows: building, $750,000; value of property, $60,000; roads and services, $17,000; furnishings and equipment, $73,000.

Helping to meet this charge will be available bequests of $175,000; government assistance, $300,000; a mortgage, $225,000, and $200,000 from the building fund appeal being conducted right now in conjunction with the Salvation Army's annual Red Shield campaign to raise $45,000 for its essential services here.

Appeal opened May 1, and will continue until May 31.

Librarian John Lort said the B.C. Library Association twice had made efforts to lift the tax off library books, and is making its third appeal to the government now.

Aldermen passed the library board's $236,256 budget for this year, representing a net increase to the city of $7,000 after the surrounding municipalities pay for their share of the service.

Tax on Books Termed 'Crime'

Levying a sales tax on public library book purchases "is almost a crime," stormed Ald. A. W. Toome today.

He urged city council to protest against the tax, pointing out the provincial government will collect $2,500 through it from the Victoria library this year.

Shanks Mare Jaycee Makes Montreal

Victoria Jaycee Blaine Tringham marched into Montreal on Wednesday afternoon to complete a little more than one-fifth of his coast-to-coast hike.

His legs have now carried him 875 miles since he left Halifax with another Jaycee, Don Johnson, in mid-March.

He is reported to be in good shape and covering between 35 and 40 miles a day.

Blaine is expected to stay in Montreal a few days "setting up" the next major stage in his 4,000 mile walk. Don, who was forced to drop out of the walk because of leg trouble, reports that his leg is improving gradually and says he is walking the last few miles each day with Blaine.

The two have now covered nearly three provinces in their "bird walk." They expect to reach Ontario next week. While Blaine walks with a placard "Follow the birds to Victoria," slung over his shoulders, Don arranges accommodation and publicity.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Condition of a baby poisoned Wednesday by the deadly panther agaric mushroom was "very slightly improved" at Royal Jubilee Hospital today.

It was the first report of illness due to the often fatal fungus which appeared in quantity for the first time in this area this year.

Rodney Walters, 18 months, son of Daniel Walters, 547 Wentworth, Metcheson, was rushed to the hospital poison centre in a coma after taking two or three bites from the mushroom.

The "Victoria Boys' Band," under direction of Reg Wood, will give the first concert of the season in Beacon Hill bandshell on Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

Assisting will be the Vic Van Isle accordion band directed by George Fairfield.

Jessie Martin, 44, of 3855 Saanich, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with a neck injury after a two-car crash at Cook and Empress at 7:45 a.m. today.

She was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Gordon E. Martin, which was in collision with an auto driven by William R. White, 1424 Edgeware, police reported.

A thief who forced open a soap dispenser made a clean break with $150 cash at a coin-operated laundry, Quadra at Kings, Wednesday night.

Police said a coin changer was tampered with but not opened.

Victoria branch of St. John Ambulance will hold its 18th annual field day at Central Junior High School on Saturday. Junior competitions start at 10 a.m.; senior events at 1:30 p.m.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Lions Club: Noon, Empress Hotel. Dr. George M. Woodmark, "Cardiac Investigation."

First of two "Art-in-Travel" lectures scheduled for Art Gallery of Greater Victoria will be held Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. Mrs. P. S. Widdup, a member of the gallery directorate, will give an illustrated talk "Journey Round the World," featuring art monuments and travel scenes in Africa, India and the Far East.

Prior to setting in Victoria in 1955, Mrs. Widdup lived in the Philippines and Shanghai, China. She is a painter and has travelled around the world six times.

Two 50-piece bands will take part in the annual spring band concert at Belmont Junior-Senior High School in the school auditorium, Friday at 8 p.m.

They are Richmond District High School Band, from Richmond, B.C., conducted by A. W. Horrocks, and the Belmont High School Band, conducted by D. R. Kerley.

Members of the two bands will visit the Legislative Buildings and provincial museum Saturday morning and swim in the Crystal Garden in the afternoon.

Retired Members Group of the St. John Ambulance Brigade will meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Eleanor Destrube, 5237 Santa Clara Avenue, Elk Lake.

Films of Vancouver Island will be featured at a meeting of Colwood PTA in Colwood Elementary School on Monday at 8 p.m.

Election of officers will take place at the next regular meeting of St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society in Holyrood House, Thursday at 8 p.m.

Lieutenant-Governor G. R. Pearkes will open a new $10,000 building for disturbed children at Sevenoaks Children's Centre on Blenkinsop Road.

The ceremony will be held on May 16, starting at 2:30 p.m.

Red Kelly Wins Lady Byng Trophy

MONTREAL (UPI) — Leonard (Red) Kelly of Toronto Maple Leafs clinched one of the National Hockey League's comeback stories today when he was named winner of the Lady Byng Trophy.

The award, presented annually to the player who combines the greatest degree of ability and sportsmanship, also carried a cash value of $1,000.

Car Overtakes In Cross-Canada Rally

DALMENY, Sask. (CP) — A sports car taking part in a cross-country car rally overturned at a corner today in this town, 20 miles northwest of Saskatoon. The driver and navigator were shaken up but continued on to Edmonton in their damaged car.

Balloonists Climb to 113,500 Feet

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI) — Two navy "sub astro-nauts" successfully rode a giant balloon from an aircraft carrier today to a record altitude of 113,500 feet. The navy officers, Cmdr. Malcolm Ross and Lt. Cmdr. Victor G. Prather, reached the record height at mid-morning and began leveling off the balloon.

50-50 CHANCE ASTRONAUT GOES FRIDAY

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — With a promise of favorable weather in the offing, a preliminary countdown began today, aimed at launching astronaut Alan Shepard into space at 8 a.m. EDT (5 a.m. PST), Friday.

A U.S. Space Agency spokesman said the weather has improved and "it now looks like a better than 50-50 chance of launching tomorrow."

He added, however, "we have no concrete assurances at this time that the weather will be perfect."

Today's countdown was to last five to seven hours and give most of the rocket's major system a complete check. The final countdown is scheduled to start at 1.30 a.m. EDT Friday.

Dave Turner Collapses

Deputy Recreation Minister David Turner, 57, collapsed today while about to attend opening sessions in Penitence of the annual convention of the B.C. Fish and Game Federation.

He was climbing the stairs of the Prince Charles Hotel when stricken.

Latest report was that he was "resting satisfactorily" in hospital.

Cause of collapse was not known at press time.

'Food-For-Peace'

Aid to Morocco

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — President Kennedy today announced a $17,800,000 food-for-peace agreement with the government of Morocco. The White House said the agreement is the biggest of its kind ever undertaken by the U.S. food-for-peace program.

'Closed' Rail Talks

MONTREAL (CP) — Officers of Canada's two major railroads and leaders of the non-operating unions negotiating committee today went into a closed meeting aimed at averting a rail strike scheduled for May 16.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — A field of 15 was formally entered today for Saturday's running of the Kentucky Derby with Carry Back the favorite at 5 to 2 to win the first of the triple crown classics.

There were no surprises as the entry box closed 48 hours before the 87th running of America's greatest horse race. Also named for the mile and one-quarter classic were: Fred W. Hopper's Crozier, the Alberta Ranches' entry of Four-and-Twenty and Flutterby, Jacob Sher's Sherluck, Mrs. Ethel D. Jacob's Dr. Miller, Leonard P. Sasso's Globemaster, Robert Lehman's Ambipose, Jacnot Stable's Light Talk, Eastwood Stable's Loyal Son, J. Graham Brown's On His Metal, Emile A. Dust's Darborn, Brae Burn Farm's Jay Fox, Ronnie's Ace, owned by William Radkovich and Wilbur Clark, and Mrs. Vera Smith's Bass Clef.

Carry Back, owned by Mrs. Katherine Price and trained by her husband Jack, will be ridden by Johnny Sellers. The same jockey was up when Carry Back won the Everglades, the Flamingo Stakes and the Florida Derby.

FARES BADLY

The favorite, who was entered late Wednesday afternoon by Price, fared poorly in the draw for the post positions. The son of Saggy Drew starting stall No. 14 with only Dr. Miller outside of him on the extreme end.

Crozier, with Braulio Baeza riding, was second choice at 3 to 1. The record-breaking winner of the derby trial, who usually gets a poor post position in big races, also did not do so well. He got No. 11, which put him near the middle of the line.

Trainer Vance Longden groaned when he pulled out No. 13 for Flutterby but grinned when he came up with No. 4 for Four-and-Twenty. The entry is third choice at 5 to 1. Johnny Longden will ride Four-and-Twenty, the stable's speed horse, and Hank Moreno is on Flutterby.

Sherluck, winner of the Blue Grass Stakes, and Eddie Arcaro's hope for a sixth Kentucky Derby victory, drew gate No. 3. Sherluck was fourth choice at 6 to 1.

Grain Deal Blasted In House

OTTAWA (CP) — There's a "big joker" in Canada's $362,000,000 wheat deal with Red China, CCF Leader Hazen Argue said today in the Commons.

Canada has to provide wheat and barley for China but China doesn't have to buy it, he said in a speech arousing hoos and angry shouts from Progressive Conservative members.

"The most one-sided agreement I've ever seen," added Mr. Argue, who was away from the House when Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton announced the deal under which Red China would take 186,000,000 bushels of wheat and 46,000,000 bushels of barley over 2½ years.

Mr. Argue said the only firm commitment in the agreement is the contract to ship the first 28,000,000 bushels of wheat between June 1 and Nov. 30. After that, each contract must be negotiated for price and quantity, he said.

CANADA STOREHOUSE

What kind of a contract was that? Red China was not committed. But Canada was committed to a storehouse policy whereby she would have wheat and barley ready for China if it was bought.

"It's not what it was dressed up to be. I think the minister making the announcement (Mr. Hamilton) really was putting his public relations men to work because this has been blown up and exaggerated almost beyond all recognition."

Trade Minister Hees, asked by Mr. Argue to say just what the long-term agreement involved, referred to Mr. Hamilton's remarks Tuesday in which the agriculture minister said:

"I have made it clear that there is a long-term agreement. Under the agreement, one contract has been signed. Each future contract will be negotiated in respect to price and quantity."

George McIlraith (L—Ottawa) said Mr. Argue's charges are of a very serious nature and, if sustained, will be of major national importance.

Later in the debate, Mr. Hees said he has been advised

Sports Scene Viewed In New Times Column

A new sports column is introduced to Times readers today.

The author is Times staffer Hal Malone. In his column he will range the wide wonderful world of sport from the national and international scene to the doings of local sports figures.

Hal is a veteran newspaperman of wide experience. Quite some years ago he was a sportswriter for a Vancouver metropolitan paper, later published and edited a weekly, then a daily.

In three years with the Times staff he has performed numerous duties, including a business column and an entertaining column on the annual horse racing meet.

Today he returns to sports, and will air his views for Times readers three times weekly on the sports pages.

JUDGE ATTACKED OVER 'PERSECUTION'

Toronto Businessman Arrested in Germany

FRANKFURT (AP) — West German police today held a Polish-born Canadian who, they said, tried to shoot a German official over alleged racial persecution.

Police said they arrested Chaim Kuflik, 58, a businessman from Toronto, Wednesday after he attempted to shoot German judge Dr. Friedrich W. Kiessling with a pistol in the judge's office.

Dr. Kiessling suffered only minor injuries, police said.

Police said Kuflik, a Jew born in Poland, was involved in argument in a Frankfurt bar in January, 1960 — shortly after the wave of anti-semitic incidents in Germany.

A heated argument started after a man said Hitler was the greatest German who had ever lived. Kuflik countered with the statement Hitler was the greatest criminal ever.

Kuflik went to the nearest police precinct and filed charges. There he was vilified and badly mistreated by four German police officers, Kuflik claimed.

Kuflik filed charges also against the quartet but the state attorney did not prosecute due to lack of evidence.

A subsequent appeal to an administrative court was also without success and Kuflik was ordered to pay the costs of the investigation and subsequent appeal.

Dr. Kiessling was president of the court that squashed his appeal and ordered him to pay.

Council Agrees To 'Transplants'

City council, by a vote of 6 to 2, today formally decided to keep all 740 cluster lights but "transplant" 63 of them to The Causeway and surrounding tourist district.

Cost of rehabilitating the standards, replacing existing supplementary lights on steel poles and the "transplant" operation will be $106,000 — none of it to come from taxation.

Funds will be provided from the land sales tax fund which now stands at $108,000.

The compromise — strongly supported by Mayor Percy Scurrell — was proposed by street lighting chairman Ald. J. L. W. McLean who led the earlier effort to install modern mercury lighting downtown.

REPLACEMENTS

Ald. McLean said some 94 cluster lights, replaced by mercury units, would be taken from: Johnson, between Blanshard and Quadra; Quadra, from Pandora to Fort; Yates, Government to Douglas; Fort, Douglas to Blanshard, and Government, Pandora to Herald.

Some of these would go into a reserve stock because the city has no replacements on hand and onto the grounds of the new Law Courts building as requested by the provincial government.

The majority would be used to extend the cluster light system to The Causeway, along Belleville, Humboldt and Burdett streets to fill gaps in the tourist area.

Only Ald. A. I. Curtis and Ald. M. H. Mooney voted against the proposal. Ald. Curtis opposed replacement of existing supplementary lights because it would still mean two types of poles on the streets after wiring goes underground.

Ald. Mooney opposed moving any of the clusters and also argued that the $58,000 rehabilitation job for the system should be done in stages instead of all at once.

'Prices Fixed To Help Employees'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two Westinghouse executives today defended price-fixing as a necessary device to keep workers employed and to develop modern electrical equipment for the benefit of consumers.

The executives, Landon Fuller and J. T. Thompson, told a senate hearing they were sincerely sorry they had broken the anti-trust laws by meeting with competitors to keep prices profitable.

But they said they went to price-fixing meetings off and on since the early 1930's for selfish motives.

"We thought we were doing a good job for our employees and our customers," Fuller told the senate anti-trust subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

Fuller is manager of switchgear apparatus in Westinghouse's East Pittsburgh division. Thompson is sales manager of Assembled Switchgear.

UIC Benefits To Marchers?

OTTAWA (CP) — Labor Minister Starr said today he has asked the Unemployment Insurance Commission to review its decision that unemployed workers who staged a march on Ottawa 10 days ago should be deprived of insurance benefits for the day.

Judy LaMarsh (L-Niagara Falls) asked for an assurance that they would be reinstated.

Mr. Starr said he has asked the commission to study the Unemployment Insurance Act. He could not give the requested assurance until he received a report.

Opposition Briefed On Spying

LONDON (Reuters) — Labor Opposition Leader Hugh Gaitskell today accepted an invitation from Prime Minister Macmillan for secret talks on

LONDON (Reuters) —

George Blake, former British diplomat convicted Wednesday of passing vital state secrets to the Russians, plans to appeal against his 42-year jail sentence, it was announced here today.

the consequences of the conviction of a former British diplomat for spying.

Macmillan told the House of Commons he was investigating whether further safeguards were needed to protect British security, but ruled out a specific inquiry.

Macmillan said he would disclose to Gaitskell the entire circumstances of the case and they could then discuss what was the best course to take in the public interest.

George Blake was sentenced to 42 years' imprisonment Wednesday after confessing he gave to Soviet agents every important paper he had access to between 1951 and 1959.

Macmillan admitted Blake "has done serious damage to the interests of this country."

Macmillan added: "I can assure members that Blake's disclosures will not have done irreparable damage."

"In particular, he did not have access to secret information on defence, nuclear or atomic matters."

WAS PRISONER

Blake confessed that he passed secret information to the Russians after becoming a Communist in 1951 when he was in a North Korea internment camp.

Macmillan said of Blake's Korean imprisonment that he no doubt underwent a certain amount of ill-treatment in common with others who were interned by the Communist Chinese.

But he was subject to none of the brainwashing which military prisoners suffered, Macmillan said.
